

Surveyor Heads Toward Soft Moon Landing

Space Officials Say Maneuvers Were Successful

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 1 cruised today toward a new and hopefully smoother landing site on the moon after a tricky steering maneuver 97,000 miles out in space.

Jet Propulsion Laboratory officials, who are guiding the 2,200-pound camera-carrying craft toward a soft landing in the dry Sea of Storms late Wednesday, said Surveyor responded properly to all commands during the intricate change of course.

They said it would take several hours of tracking to be sure Surveyor's new course will bring it down, as now planned, about 20 miles north of the point picked prior to Monday's launch.

New Elite

The new site was chosen to give the spacecraft the smoothest possible landing area in the 62-mile diameter target circle — at the western edge of the 1,700-mile long equatorial strip selected for future Apollo astronaut touchdowns.

Like the Soviet Luna 9, which soft-landed and televised pictures from the lunar surface February 3, Surveyor is pioneering a technique planned to deposit manned craft gently on the moon.

This technique — descending slowly while balancing on the thrust of downward firing rockets — is believed the only safe way to land on the airless moon.

In the maneuver at 2:45 a.m. EDT, the spacecraft was ordered to roll and yaw slowly to the left, aiming it in the desired direction. A 20-second burst from three small rockets drove it forward along the new flight path.

Center of Gravity

Officials said there was no indication so far that the steering maneuver was disturbed by any shift in the craft's center of gravity, a possibility that arose when radioed data indicated an antenna boom may not have extended fully after launch.

There was still a chance that a shift in the center of gravity might cause the craft to tumble and crash when the descent-breaking rockets are ignited on the final approach to the moon. If all goes well, however, Surveyor will radio across 230,000 miles of space pictures almost as sharp as those seen on home television screens, showing terrain details as small as a pencil lead.

These pictures should give scientists a better idea of whether the lunar surface is strong enough to support the weight of large manned landing craft.

Five Drown In Wisconsin

2 Still Missing in Lake Michigan; Search Called Off

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Five persons were believed to have drowned in Wisconsin over Memorial Day weekend.

Coast Guard craft called off a three-day search of Lake Michigan for two missing Port Washington youths Monday night.

A hospital patient, a Minnesota teenager and a small boy drowned in Wisconsin lakes in other accidents.

The toll contrasted sharply with Memorial Day weekend one year ago when Wisconsin escaped without any water deaths.

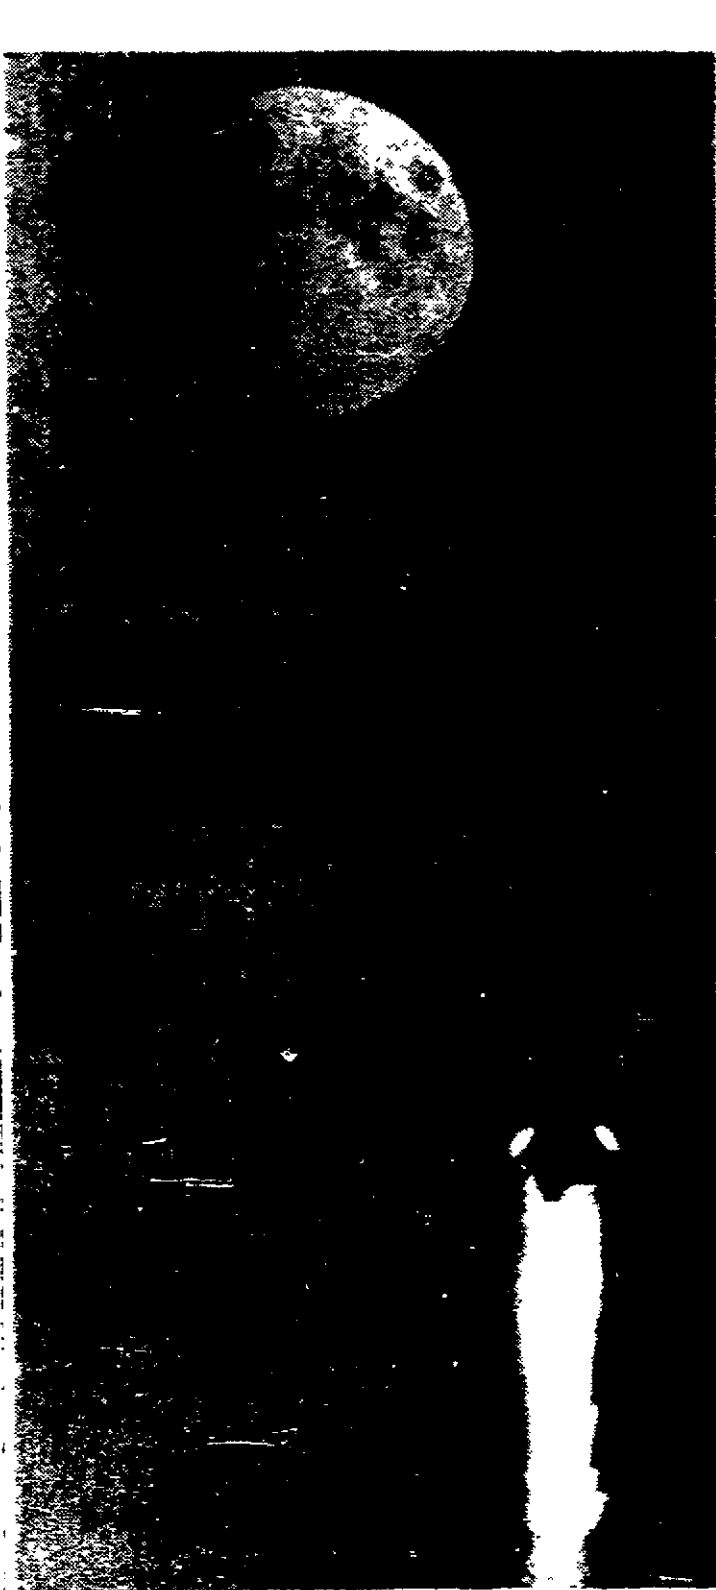

Missing on Lake Michigan and presumed drowned were Army Pvt. John Engle, 19, and Carl Bichler, 20, a college student. Engle's 14-foot boat was washed ashore Sunday, one day after the pair left Port Washington for a short cruise.

Both Victims

The Ozaukee County sheriff's office said both were being listed as drowning victims.

The body of William Johnson, 18, St. Paul, Minn., was recovered Monday from Silver Lake 10 miles east of the Polk County seat of Balsam Lake. The teenager drowned Saturday night when a boat capsized on the lake near his family's summer cottage.

Two fishermen found the body of Lee Bradford, 62, La Crosse, in Lake Keshonock near La Crosse Sunday night. Bradford, a patient at La Crosse County Hospital, frequently went swimming in the lake, authorities said.

Gemini 9 Team Ready as 'Go' Flashes Around World

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The "go" light flashed brightly to tracking stations around the world today for the Gemini 9 spacemen to embark on a three-day exploration of some unknowns of space travel.

"We're ready to go," said Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford, his rookie pilot, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan, soon to become the world's champion cosmic stroller, agreed.

They'll ride a mighty Titan rocket into the hostile void of space at 12:38 p.m. (EDT) Wednesday to search the skies for a stubby target satellite, then boldly latch Gemini 9's nose to it.

Their target, known as an Augmented Target Docking Adapter — ATDA, will be powered into a 185-mile high circular course around the globe by an Atlas booster one hour and 38 minutes before the Titan cranks its engines.

Healthy and trained to razor sharpness, the Gemini twins planned a final review of their vital, action-packed mission with top space agency officials during the day. They also hoped to crowd in a few more hours of practice sessions in a mockup version of the tiny Gemini spacecraft.

Technicians, sailing along without a hitch on preparations for launching both the Titan and Atlas rockets, scheduled a five-hour check of all systems aboard the 11-story tall Titan before beginning the final countdown leading to launch.

The weather forecast, sometimes a troublemaker to the nation's space efforts, called for satisfactory conditions at blast-off time, both at Cape Kennedy and the ocean recovery areas.

Memorial Day Toll Hits Unprecedented High Three-Day Total

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — The death toll on the nation's roads has soared to an unprecedented three-day Memorial Day figure and it may surpass the total fatalities recorded for any Memorial Day weekend regardless of duration.

As of Monday midnight, local time, 519 lives were lost on accidents in Wisconsin over the America's highways. The death count began at 6 p.m. local time Friday.

In other accidents, 43 persons perished in boating mishaps and 90 persons drowned. Ten of the drowning victims were recorded in South Carolina.

The highest previous traffic death toll for a three-day Memorial Day period was 474 last year.

In 1963, 525 persons were killed during a four-day weekend.

Council Forecast — The National Safety Council forecast 540 persons would die during the 78-hour period. The council said Monday the current holiday period was similar to the Fourth of July weekend last year when 547 lives were lost.

Wisconsin's Memorial Day weekend traffic toll halted below the carnage of past years as drivers survived the homeward rush Monday night without a single fatality reported. The toll for the weekend stood at eight, but only one death was listed for Memorial Day and that came in the early hours of the morning.

Ten persons died in traffic accidents in Wisconsin over the Memorial Day weekend in 1965. The state's all-time high for the holiday span was 23 fatalities for the Memorial Day weekend of 1955.

For the year, the state's death count was 323, compared with 336 through the last day of May a year ago.

Only one of the fatal accidents in Wisconsin over the 78-hour holiday involved more than one car.

Other victims died as cars struck trees, a bridge, a guard rail, a creek embankment, or a utility pole.

Sunny skies and pleasant weather throughout most of the nation contributed to motorists' jamming thoroughfares as millions of Americans traveled to recreation areas, athletic events and family gatherings.

California, with more automobiles and miles of freeways than any other state, recorded the highest number of deaths as of midnight, 55.

Worst Accident — The worst single recorded accident occurred in Somerset, Ky., Saturday when five persons died in a three-car collision.

Four of the victims were from a vacationing Ohio family. The lowest three-day rate for a Memorial Day, since records were initiated, was in 1948 when 204 persons died.

The three-day Christmas holiday in 1965 stands as the most tragic highway period with 720 deaths recorded.

The total highway death toll in 1965 was a record 49,000.

Authorities Watch Alabama Election — BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Federal authorities kept a close watch today on Alabama's Democratic party runoff primary in which Negroes ran against white opponents in 16 of the state's 67 counties.

The Justice Department sent poll watchers into six counties — Choctaw, Greene, Hale, Marengo, Perry and Sumter — just as it did in the first primary May 3 when 12 counties were put under surveillance.

They were under instructions to look for possible violations of the new federal Voting Rights Act. In two of the counties, Hale and Perry, local officials had place to place for about an hour.

Daniel P. Steinberg Jr., 56, 1743 N. Nicholas St., collapsed and died about 4:05 p.m. Monday at his home.

Head of Steinberg Agency, real estate and insurance, he was an outstanding athlete at Appleton High School, Lawrence University, a well-known golfer and curler. He was active in the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce and other civic activities.

Steinberg had golfed Sunday and had invited friends to his home for Memorial evening. He was watching TV when he died. The fire department rescue squad and two doctors were called. D. L. Goulet, a neighbor, administered mouth to mouth resuscitation while a doctor performed exterior heart massage. The rescue squad gave him oxygen for 20 minutes before he was pronounced dead.

Steinberg spent a short time as football and basketball coach at Seton Hall, South Orange, N.J., before joining his father, Daniel P. Steinberg Sr., in the insurance and real estate business in 1931.

He was secretary-treasurer of the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf Association for the last 26 years.

Apparently First Round Of Discussions To End Protest of Ky Regime

SAIGON (AP) — Buddhist leaders held a surprise meeting with leaders of the military junta today, apparently the first round of talks to end the anti-government campaign by communists.

The monks met with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, a Roman Catholic and a target in the Buddhist campaign to force the military junta to resign in favor of a provisional civilian regime.

The meeting came after another Buddhist, a 17-year-old girl, had burned herself to death in Hue, center of government opposition in the North. She was the fifth and possibly the sixth suicide in the wave of antigovernment protests.

No Statement — Thich (venerable) Tam Chau, head of the powerful Buddhist Institute, headed the delegation of four that called at heavily guarded Gia Long Palace, Thieu's residence.

An institute spokesman said no statement will be made for the time being.

The influential Monk Thich Tri Quang, leader of the Buddhist struggle movement in the north provinces, issued an appeal earlier in the day for a halt to protest suicides.

Quang said he spoke for the supreme patriarch of South Vietnamese Buddhists, Tich Tinh Khiet, when he urged "all Buddhists to cease acts of self-sacrifice."

Navy Says Sailor Tried To Sell Data to Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) — A the danger inherent in our Navy serviceman assigned to present security system where routine duties in a "top secret" by an individual who has access area methodically collected to secret information may, highly sensitive information and through the peculiar nature of tried to sell it to the Soviets, it's his duties, gain access to top secret information without an appropriate clearance.

As a result, the Navy is tightening its security system around the world.

The Navy turned aside all questions about the case by saying that it is "under active investigation" and that "other details are classified."

Since the man involved held a secret clearance, it can be assumed that he had undergone a fairly stringent security check beforehand.

Navy Silent — There was no indication of the specific nature of the material he tried to sell or whether the Soviets bought it. On these points, too, the Navy refused to talk.

The previously undisclosed case came to light in a notice to all ships and stations signed by Rear Adm. Rufus L. Taylor, director of the Office of Naval Intelligence.

The notice was intended, it said, to advise commanders "of

Then it told the story, without giving any names or indication of where the espionage incident occurred.

It said a serviceman who had duties as a "watch stander," officer supply clerk, and repairman was placed on a list permitting access to spaces where top secret information was discussed.

As a result of his frequent appearances in the sensitive spaces, the notice said, "authorities personnel assumed that he held a top secret clearance."

Further, the commanders were told, the authorized personnel "failed to challenge his need-to-know."

"Through observation and pertinent questions, the serviceman managed to collect and collate information classified top secret," it added.

"In this case he contacted the Soviets with the intent of engaging in espionage for a monetary gain."

Fact of Family Life

AP Survey Confirms It: Food Costs More

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — A housewives' budget brigade concluded today that government price indexes fairly reflect a hard fact of life in the 1960s: it is costing more and more to feed the family.

Many housewives seem firmly convinced that food prices just about doubled in the past year. They didn't, but government figures, supported by an independent Associated Press survey in March, show that the cost of a typical week's shopping went up nearly 7 per cent.

Meats, however, have risen sharply. Based on the government's national price averages, it cost $6.22 to buy one pound each of sirloin steak, hamburger, pork chops, ham, bacon and lamb chops in mid-March, compared with $5.12 in mid-March of 1965 — a rise of 21.5 per cent.

Lesser Rises — By contrast, the other items on the shopping list of the AP's budget brigade rose only 1.5 per cent.

The AP's budget brigade

figures, and the government's, should enable skeptical shoppers to judge for themselves. The AP housewives themselves started out highly skeptical on their 12-city spot survey.

They said food prices overall were unquestionably high, although many a penny could be shaved off the grocery bill by determined bargain-hunting from store to store. Some made the point that few housewives can spare so much time from their other home-making duties.

If a housewife does all her shopping at one store, the researcher in St. Louis said, "it doesn't matter much which store you shop at — they'll get all your money anyway."

Really Bargains — "Each store's weekly bargains really were bargains," she reported. "They cut off as much as 20 or 30 cents per item. But they seem to make it up somewhere else."

The Associated Press budget brigade priced a list of 38 to 40 food items, from potatoes to sirloin steak, in three supermarkets in each of the 12 cities on March 10. The results were set alongside returns from U. S. Department of Labor checkers who shopped a wider range of stores in the same cities at approximately the same time. (The government checkers also cover stores in 50 smaller cities for which no price breakdown is published).

In the 12 cities where the AP paralleled the government survey, average total bills were remarkably similar and in the case of St. Louis came out at precisely the same figure — $20.43.

Matronly Affair — The government goes about its monthly price-gathering in a coolly scientific way, using 125 checkers working under field supervisors and supported by computers at home base. The AP survey was a matronly affair on a much smaller scale but following in the footsteps of the government checkers.

AP housewives spiced their findings with pointed comments about food prices — like "exorbitant" and "skyrocketing."

Food prices make up only 22.5 per cent of the government's over-all cost of living index, which during the March-to-March period rose 2.5 per cent. However, it is food prices which the housewife encounters face to face every week and is most aware of.

Both AP and government checkers reported Cleveland to be the cheapest city for the over-all food bill. Government checkers came up with a figure of $18.67 for 39 items and the AP housewife found the same items for $18.77.

San Francisco Costly — Government checkers found San Francisco to be the costliest city, with an average price of $21.27 for 39 items compared with $19.70 reported by the AP checker. Costliest city in the AP survey was Boston, with a total of $21.06 compared with the government finding of $21.10.

In between the extremes came Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St.

Louis and Washington, D.C. AP's San Francisco checker called recent price rises in meat "exorbitant."

"My budget is strained to the breaking point," commented the Cleveland housewife.

The housewife in Washington complained that "some basic items of diet have increased over the past year with no publicity — bread up 4 cents, milk up 4 cents, rise up 4 cents, potatoes up 15 to 25 cents for 10 pounds."

600 "Voids" — Said the Chicagoan: "The manager of a store I checked said he had 600 'voids' in the past week. A 'void' is where a customer finds he doesn't have enough money to pay for everything in his basket."

"All prices have skyrocketed but meat is extremely high," said the Pittsburgh reporter.

The Baltimore surveyor said "an employee of one of the supermarkets included in my canvass claimed he is spending

Wisconsin's Health

'Pap' Test Detects Presence of Cancer

BY E. H. Jorris M.D. State Health Officer

Cancer can occur in any part of the body. More than one-half of them occur where they are subject to early detection and cure. Uterine cancer is an example.

Every year more than 200 Wisconsin women die from cancer of the cervix and body of the uterus. In 1965 the number was 213; in 1964 it was 239. In half decades the Papanicolaou smear test has become widely recognized as an excellent case finding procedure.

Too Few Despite the widespread acceptance of the "Pap" test it is estimated that here in Wisconsin only 15 to 20 per cent of the women receive periodic tests. Thus the need is to find methods of bringing about periodic "Pap" testing of the women.

There is statistical evidence of progress in reducing deaths from uterine cancer. Back in 1943 the national rate was 24.2 deaths per 100,000 women because of uterine cancer. The national rate in 1963 had been cut to 12.6 deaths per 100,000. With such a powerful weapon against cancer at hand every effort should be made to encourage every woman to talk to her physician about having the test. There is no doubt that the use of the "Pap" test has contributed to saving lives and reducing the death rate. With such a valuable tool available every effort should be made to encourage all women to have the test.

Hide Scarred Sink With Plastic Liner

Is your kitchen sink badly stained? Is it badly scratched, chipped, or otherwise marred? If so, why not look around for some brand new Mylar plastic decorator-type sink liners. These can be readily bonded to any sink surface, and can subsequently be removed easily, if desired.

As with all plastics, it will be easy to keep your new sink liner clean by just washing with hot soap or detergent suds. As another fringe benefit, the soft surface will help to prevent dishes and glassware from chipping against a traditional enamel or metal sink.

Neglect of Nines, Tens, Can Hurt

Pit the fate of a nine or a ten, especially in an unimportant suit. Nobody counts points for such a card, and all too often it gets neglected in the play of the cards just as it is ignored in the bidding.

king. He was punished for disregarding the ten and nine of diamonds.

East took the first trick with the ace of diamonds and returned the queen of clubs. South stepped up with the ace of clubs, drew trumps and led another club from dummy in the hope of getting a second club trick. If he could develop a club trick in time he might be able to discard a spade from dummy.

As it happened, the clubs were badly placed. Moreover, West returned a spade as soon as he won his first club trick. South had to lose two clubs and a spade in addition to the first diamond trick. Down one.

Vital Nine
South should play the low diamond from dummy at the first trick instead of the king. East must put up the jack of diamonds to win the trick, thanks to that vital nine of diamonds in the South hand.

East returns the queen of clubs, and South wins with the ace. South draws trumps with the king and ace and then leads the king of diamonds from dummy. East cannot gain by playing low, since South would just discard. If East plays the ace of diamonds, his best chance to win the trick since South might have the missing six of diamonds. South ruffs.

Now South leads a trump to dummy and can discard either two spades or two clubs on the queen and ten of diamonds. Either way, the game contract is assured.

Charge Accounts Reveal New Financing Features

Charge accounts, one of the really charge accounts. They early forms of credit, have been first issued by oil companies on a new look. The simple parties but are now available for "charge it, please" may resemble travel, hotels, dining places or installment buying without multipurpose use. Some companies charge for their credit.

Charge accounts seem to be available everywhere and some stores use what they call an extended credit plan which gives 90 days to pay for an item rather than the usual 30 days. When buying a large item this helps spread the cost or delay it so you can take advantage of a sale or special price.

Some stores may ask for a down payment on a 90-day purchase. If the account isn't paid up in that time there probably will be a service charge.

ANSWER: Pass. You have only 4 points in high cards, not enough for a response to the opening bid of one in a suit. You could respond to an opening bid of one spade, since then you could count points for the two doubletons and also for the fifth spade.

Summer Cool
For travel, town and daytime occasions, the sum of fashion is a costume—a suit with blouse, dress with coat, or dress with jacket. And nothing could be more versatile.

Costumes instantly adapt to changes of scene and climate, nature's to man-made. Owing to skimmy, uncomplicated silhouettes and highly disciplined fabrics, this is a fashion with built-in ease. What's more it has great good looks.

Suits take two directions. Jackets are short or riding-coat long. Some have notched collars, some are collarless. Sometimes there's a belt, sometimes not. Sleeves go to all lengths, from sleeveless to the wrist. Skirts are slim or let-out.

Coats are skimmy enough to double as a dress. And dresses are equally skimmy. Newswy ones have scoop necklines and long sleeves.

The color focus is on pale, off tones and on bold brights, with a sprinkling of darks. In many costumes, pales and brights mix—a pale coat tops a bold print dress, for instance. Fabrics range from luxury weights in linen and cotton, through silky prints and crepes, to sheer cotton voiles and blends.

This variety allows for personal preference and flattery. And perhaps that's the greatest boon in costume fashions for

Men Take to Wigs—Again

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Keep your eye on modern George. He's as changeable as a chameleon.

Like his wife, he can be a blond trail blazer by morning, a red-haired riot at noon, and by sundown a raven-haired homme fatale. And for the same reasons—a change of wigs.

Unlike his wife, he can be bald when he goes to bed. Yet Mark Traynor, inventor of full-sized wigs, not toupees for men, claims he has as many satisfied customers with a full head of hair as he does mature gentlemen with glabrous craniums.

Not only do blonds have more fun, Traynor says any man does whom Traynor's faithfuls. For a group of gyrating guitar strummers who consider a mop in motion essential to their image, and yet find curls during the daylight hours strictly for girls. Traynor grew a few wigs to shoulder length that swing with the beat.

Actually, Traynor, a spare young man with a burgeoning supply of blond hair grown on his own, is a make-up artist who did the wigs for men as a gag on Johnny Carson's television show. The response was so overwhelming from the long-haired, short-haired and no-haired men around the world that he was suddenly in a new business.

Depilated gentlemen flock to Traynor's shop for curly locks because wigs are easier to put on, are light, porous and more comfortable to wear, and not as easily detected. A toupee, or tresses once in a while, especially if nature is beginning to brush up his real crop with gray, reveals itself as a fraud.

Scare-haired Joe Cunningham, an artist from Scarsdale, wig-tested Traynor's product by to their own current hair color debuting an ash blond number can go under cover for a while, at a formal dinner recently. Not only was he and it a hit, his wife who tried it on found the style becoming to her, too.

"We're thinking of ordering among Traynor's faithfuls. For 'his and her' wigs," says Joe, a group of gyrating guitar strummers who consider a mop, possibility of this new mark- ing concept.

Masculine Men Have Feminine Daughters

MADISON — Who has the most influence on a little girl's femininity — Mom or Dad? Well, it seems a little girl's heart still belongs to Daddy, and the warmer and more masculine Daddy is, the more likely it is that his daughter will grow into a lovely "female" female, a University of Wisconsin woman psychologist has found.

"If a little girl is to become a feminine woman, it's more important that she has a warm and masculine father rather than a very feminine mother," E. Mavis Hetherington, associate professor of psychology, points out.

Show Affection

"Moreover, it's also important that a little girl's father is affectionate with her mother. In other words, her father must like women."

Part of learning how to be a woman comes from practice in responding to males, she adds.

For little boys it's best that the father be the dominant person in the family. Prof. Hetherington said.

"Little boys initially identify with their mothers. In father-dominated families, boys shift naturally from mother-identification to father-identification. However, in mother-dominated families boys continue to identify with their mothers."

These results, on what makes a little girl feminine and a little boy masculine, are part of a series of studies the Wisconsin psychologist is conducting children's personality development and sex-role preference.

In studying father-absent families, she found that four and five-year-old boys from these families tend to be less aggressive, more dependent on peers, and score "more feminine" on sex-typed tests than boys whose fathers are not absent.

"Girls, on the other hand, show a delayed reaction to father-absence," she explains. "In early adolescence girls are either extremely boy-crazy or very shy and withdrawn around males."

Previous studies have shown that girls develop feminine sex-role preference later than boys develop masculine sex-role preference, Prof. Hetherington explains.

"At age four and five, boys already show a preference for the masculine role whereas girls usually do not show a marked preference for the feminine role until age nine or ten."

The Ailing House No Need For Dusty Basement

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: The floor of our new home is very dusty all the time. It seems a small amount of the concrete surface must be wearing off. Is there any inexpensive solution to this problem?

A: There is, in fact, at least two solutions. Mop a solution of one part ordinary waterglass (silicate of soda; at any drug store) in four parts of water. Wipe up any puddles. Let dry for a week, then repeat. That concrete floor should never dust again. However, if you plan to paint in the future, spend a little more and put on a liquid hardening preparation. This is made to stop dusting and general softening of concrete. Some types are made in colors, so you put on a finish at the same time. Ask any masonry supplies dealer. The reason for using this product as anti-dusting is because paint won't stick over waterglass.

Q: When we turn on the hot water, a tap-tapping begins soon after in the pipes and stops after the water has been running hot for a while. I fear this may eventually cause damage to the pipes, in addition to being a real annoyance. What is the cause, and how can it be cured, please?

A: Cause may well be heat expansion in the horizontal length of piping. This can cause the noise if the pipe supports are a little loose, or if there are too few. Tightening them, adding a few more, or both may do the trick. If not, the trouble may well be in the heater itself, although it can sound as though the noise is in the pipes. Well worth having a heating man investigate.

Q: Where may I obtain detailed plans for specifications for building a basement recreation room?

A: Directions Simplified, Briarcliff, N.Y. In addition to specific plans, ask for list of project plans and prices; excellent material. Also try Popular Science Monthly, 355 Lexington Ave., New York City, 10017; the American Home, 641 Lexington Ave., New York City, 10022. Your Problems

Teachers Upset by Parents' Refusal to Tell Children of Sex

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We are two Ohio teachers whose students are between 10 and 12 years of age. The questions they ask about sex and marriage indicate that they are getting absolutely no information at home.

On occasion we have telephoned mothers and suggested that they discuss various aspects of puberty and the beginning of life with their children. We feel that home is the logical place to learn about these matters. Some mothers expressed shock and disgust that their children would be thinking about "such nasty things." One mother told me, "You can be sure I will punish Johnny if he tries to get me to talk to him about such filth."

If parents refuse to discuss these matters with their children where are the youngsters supposed to learn? What can we do to help them? — Troubled

DEAR TROUBLED: Fortunately, sex education is at long last being permitted in public schools — even in Chicago! Ohio is one of the more enlightened states in this regard. I am ashamed to say Illinois has been among the most backward. I know of some Chicago teachers who heroically have given their students some decent sex education at the risk of getting fired.

Of course, home is the best place to learn about life and "If you keep this chain going you will have good luck. If you break this chain your luck will be very bad."

Gladys showed the letter to me and asked my advice. I told her to use her own judgment but I let her know that I have always thrown them out. Gladys decided to do the same.

Don't ask me why, but ever since that day, the poor girl has had one disappointment after another. She is convinced that the chain letter she destroyed is responsible for the jinx. Will you please say something in your column to set her straight? — Not Superstitious

DEAR NOT: Of course there is no relation between the chain letter and your daughter's run of bad luck, but it's much easier (and conveniently face-saving) to blame disappointments on a chain letter rather than to accept personal responsibility for failure. You probably can't sell this notion to Gladys now, but as time goes on and she becomes more rational and mature (hopefully), she will see evidence on the other side which will persuade her.

Unsure of yourself on dates?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Periodically I receive chain letters. Should you? Shouldn't you? It seems these letters run in Send for Ann Landers' booklet. I won't get one for "Dating Do's and Don'ts," months, then suddenly I'll receive one in one week. I cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. I have always considered chain letters a nuisance and have torn them up. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems.

Two weeks ago our teen-age daughter received a chain letter newspaper enclosing a stamped, which closed with these words: self-addressed envelope.

sex, but if kids can't get the answers at home, school is the second best place.

Teachers who are asked questions about sex and marriage should answer them frankly and honestly. And they should have the support of their principals and their board of education. They are doing the parents' job and they should receive thanks — not criticism.

Child's Conduct in School Is Determined by Environment

Dear Dr. Jones: I'm puzzled by my son's conduct at school. He enjoys going to school and is superior grades. But he has been to the principal's office once already this semester, and it was there five times last semester for making noise in class and for talking to the teacher when she hadn't given him permission. He's seven and one-half years old and in the second grade, but we're afraid his behavior will become worse if we don't stop it now. MRS. B.

Without knowing more about both your son's school and his own daily life at home, it isn't possible to determine if his trouble is caused by unrealistic expectations on the part of his teacher or is a sign of emotional difficulty caused by your treatment of him at home.

Most teachers in the primary grades permit children to talk to them in class without special permission. Also, teachers usually handle occasional naughtiness and bothersome behavior by letting a child know how much his behavior is disapproved of while reminding him he's liked for other reasons — they don't use the old-fashioned system of turning the principal into a boogyman.

Why not talk this over with the teacher and principal directly? If this specific teacher has extremely rigid rules, out of line with the school's in general, perhaps a change of classroom can be arranged. If it seems clear that your son's behavior would be out of keeping in any classroom, however, you must work to discover and then eliminate the pressures at home that he's reacting against. If you want help with this, write again with more details of your usual daily life with him.

DEAR DR. JONES: Please tell your readers to cut out their baby talk and teach their children proper terms! I'm a receptionist in a doctor's office, and I'm amazed by how many children who are old enough to come in for their camp or school examinations alone still don't know what we're talking about when we ask for a urine specimen. MRS. K. H.

Many children have difficulty figuring out the mechanics of how to get the urine into a specimen bottle. Perhaps if you explain this more fully, especially to the young girls, you'll run into less difficulty. But you are right! Parents should acquaint children with the common scientific terms for natural functions and parts of the body, even if other terms are customarily used within the family.

Doctor Jones replies personally to every question her readers' carrying them. Many good send her. For a personal reply to your question, write to her, in care of The Post-Crescent.

Corn Relief Comes Only With Easing Pressure

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes a corn on my left toe to re-form every three months? I wear proper footwear and keep my heels renewed.

Could this corn be the result of my stride or gait? I do a great deal of walking. — F. R.

I'd doubt if your stride or gait have anything to do with the problem.

You know what a corn is. There has been excessive pressure at some point, and the skin thickens as a protective measure.

Mere thickening of the skin—callus formation—isn't painful. People who go barefoot develop corn, a small area of hard callus on the soles as tough as leather, but it doesn't hurt. It thickens, and presses deeper and deeper. It has to. Because of pressed into the flesh by your shoe (or sometimes it is between two toes). The skin underneath begins to thicken to protect against the painful pressure of the original speck of callus.

So — presently you have a

Dr. Molner

However, when this thickening occurs at one small point, and when it is hemmed in by your inward shoe, it becomes a different matter. This small, hard bit of callus behaves about the way a small pebble would. It is "corn removers." Your foot feels fine for a time. But the corn later appears again.

Why? Because it is virtually impossible to remove all of a corn by yourself. A podiatrist, using surgical methods, can go deeper into the flesh. You obviously can't. If even quite a small speck of that hard callus remains, it feels, to the flesh underneath, like a tiny pebble or bit of grit. Protective thickening starts in the skin underneath. You have the whole process over again and a new corn builds up.

The only answer is to keep pressure off that small remaining speck of callus until it has had time to soften and to be replaced by soft new flexible skin. This doesn't happen quickly. Those little doughnut-shaped pads can be used to keep pressure off.

The usual error is in thinking that a few days will be long enough. They won't. You may have to use the protective gadgets for weeks, or longer, but you've got to keep pressure off that spot until no hard speck remains to start another corn.

Of course, the quicker way is to have a podiatrist do it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 60 and my doctor has prescribed hormones. As there is a history of cancer in the family, I don't like to take them. Is that an old-fashioned idea? — L. B.

I won't say it's an old-fashioned idea, but I think it misses the point. Hormones in proper doses will not cause cancer; however, they may accelerate growth of a cancer if it already exists. Should you ever develop cancer, your doctor would stop the hormones, but I can see no reason for concern about taking them now.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please tell me about a secretion from bees to cure arthritis. — J. K.

At one time, bee venom was thought to help arthritis. It has been tried many times and it doesn't work.

Miss B. V.: Ordinarily weight reduction and avoidance of animal fats will bring at least some reduction in cholesterol. Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling. (Copyright, 1966)

Khrushchevs Live Quietly, Nina Says

MOSCOW (AP) — Nina Khrushchev says she and Nikita are leading a quiet life in the country and the ousted Soviet leader spends a lot of time reading and walking.

Three British newsmen ran into Mrs. Khrushchev Monday at Moscow's Sheremetyevo Airport where she was saying goodbye to a niece going to Cuba. She gave the first authoritative account of Khrushchev's life in many months.

Khrushchev, 72, was replaced in October 1964, pensioned and given a villa outside Moscow. He has not been seen by Westerners in more than a year.

Mrs. Khrushchev confirmed reports that her husband had been through a long siege of kidney trouble but said he has made "an astonishing recovery."

"He was in the hospital twice, but he has fully recovered and is fit and well," she said.

"We live quietly these days. Our old friends come to see us from time to time. And we have our family out, of course."

Mrs. Khrushchev, who is 66, talked readily in English and seemed to enjoy the encounter

'Outlaws' Get Escort For Outing

CEDARBURG, Wis. (AP) — Bearded motorcycle riders were barred from Cedarburg and given a police escort home Monday by sheriff's deputies with shot-gun in hand.

About 150 members of the Outlaws, a notorious club of cyclists, spent part of Memorial Day afternoon in Covered Bridge Park north of here after annual motorcycle races at Cedarburg were canceled.

The Outlaws' departure coincided with the arrival of a task force of police, but no one was outspoken enough to say the two were related.

The police and the shotguns reappeared as the motorcycle armada stopped at a gasoline station on the 20-mile return trip to Milwaukee. The cyclists left quickly.

Four squad cars were present at another time to watch a group of six Outlaws and four female companions trying to repair a stalled cycle in Mequon.

There were no serious incidents.

Governor Seeks Senator Post In Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Gov. Frank Clement makes another bid for the U.S. Senate today.

Clement called a noon news conference to announce that he will oppose U.S. Sen. Ross Bass for the Democratic nomination for the second time.

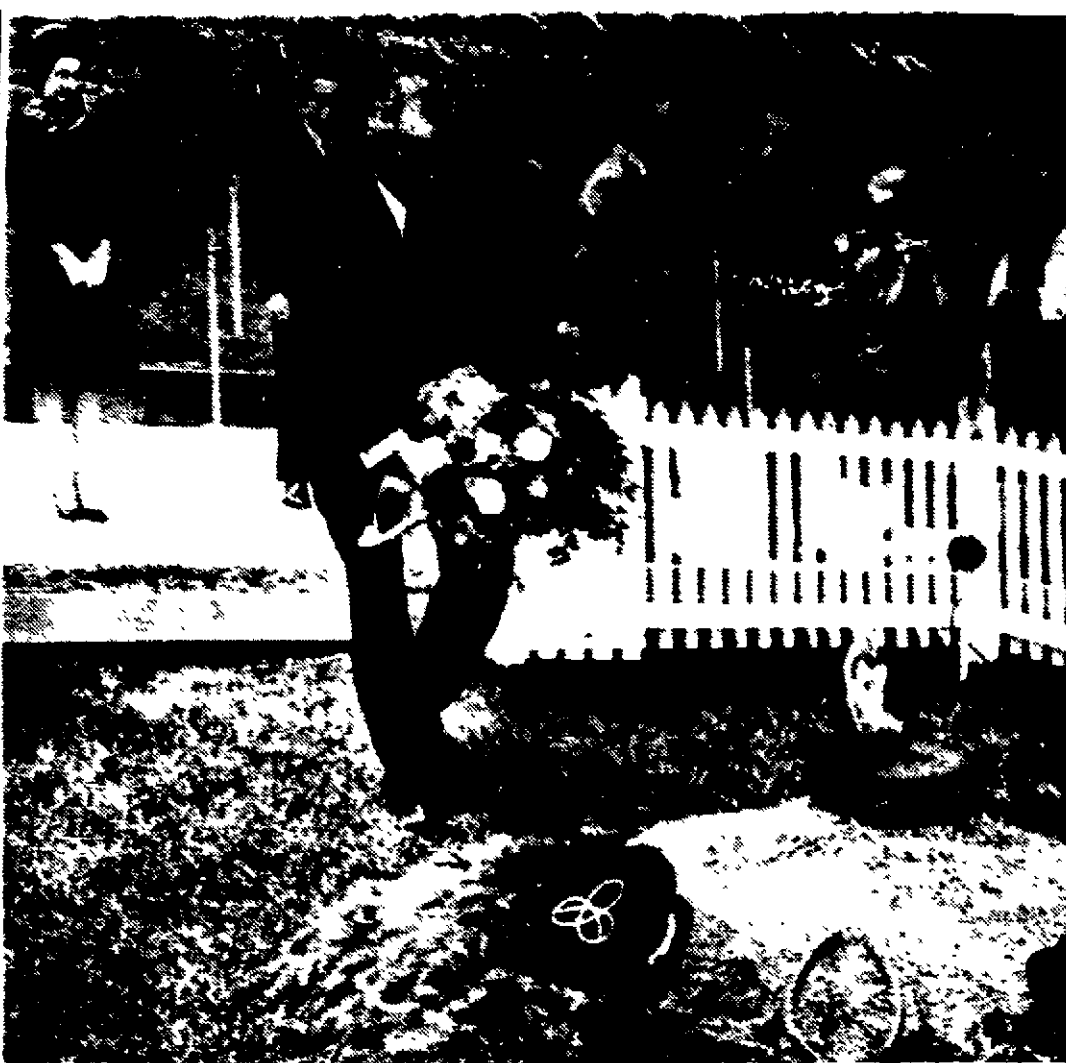

Bass, 49, defeated Clement two years ago for the two years in the unexpired term for the late Sen. Estes Kefauver. In announcing for re-election Saturday Bass predicted the Aug. 4 primary would have "the same cast and, I hope, the same ending."

Clement has been at work the past two years to try for a different ending.

Clement, who will be 46 Thursday, was the state's youngest governor when elected to his first term at age 32 in 1952. He has served one two-year and two four-year terms, and can't succeed himself.

With the newsmen, she looked well and somewhat thinner.

Russians in the crowded terminal took no outward notice of her.

missions Monday, hitting a wide range of targets that included missile sites, other anti-aircraft installations, trains, bridges and supply lines from the 17th Parallel to beyond Hanoi.

U.S. spokesmen did not disclose the number of planes involved but a mission usually is carried out by several aircraft. American airmen flew 220 sorties — single strikes by a single plane — in South Vietnam despite monsoon rains at midday. B-52 Stratofortresses bombed a suspected Viet Cong regimental base west of Quang Ngai, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, Monday night.

Ground Fighting

The ground fighting continued to center on the jungled hills 14 miles from the Cambodian border where the U.S. 25th Infantry Division combed the central highlands for an estimated 700 surviving North Vietnamese.

Only light contact was reported today, but a spokesman said 307 Reds had been killed — most of them since Saturday — in three-week-old Operation Paul Reveré.

A Vietnamese spokesman gave a picture of increased battle activity by government troops, many of whom had been sidelined during the political crisis. He said 17 more operations of various size were begun by the government Monday, and that 22 already were under way. Youths Held In Robbery, Death of Priest

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Police arrested two teen-agers and questioned three others today in the robbery slayings of a priest and a warehouseman.

Chief of Detectives Bart Collins said Tony Esposito, 17, and Jack Brito Jr., 16, had admitted the bludgeoning killing of Eugene Silva, 40, a warehouseman from nearby Santa Clara.

Brito, the detective said, also had admitted taking part in the fatal beating of the Rev. John D. Cox, 31, a Roman Catholic priest from the San Francisco suburb of Millbrae.

Both Esposito and Brito were booked for homicide investigations.

Collins quoted the youths, both San Jose High School students, as saying they and others lured victims to secluded areas where they beat and robbed them.

Rezoning Request Denied For Apartment Development

Appleton Unit Seeks Way To Allow Proposed Project

Rezoning for a proposed commercial-apartment complex at Oneida and Seymour Streets was denied today by the Appleton Plan Commission but the door was still left open for the project to materialize.

Planning commissioners were unanimous in their decision that the busy southside corner not be rezoned commercial or light manufacturing, especially so close to the St. Elizabeth Hospital.

However, they went along with a recommendation by City Planner Walter Rasmussen that rezoning the proposed project site on the northwest corner of Oneida and Seymour Street to local business use would be in order.

Doubts Arise On Handling Of Hearings

Appleton Official Urges Continuity In Rezoning Matters

The question arose today and it will need legal clarification — whether the Appleton Council is putting the cart before the horse in its handling of rezoning hearings.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues thought there could be more continuity in hearing scheduling procedures, and felt the city's hearing procedure exceeds the requirements of the law.

Ald. George Schwarzbauer (10th), serving his first year on the council, felt the public hearing should be held before aldermen make a decision on zoning matters recommended to them by the plan commission.

Under existing procedure, the council takes a vote first and then schedules a hearing, even when rezoning requests are denied.

The plan commission always conducts a formal hearing on requests, and often an additional informal one, before making a written recommendation to the council.

City Planner Walter Rasmussen agreed with Bues that another look be taken at the procedure followed by the commission and council.

"If the council denies a rezoning request, it may then hold a public hearing that was not necessary under the law," Rasmussen commented.

City Atty. David Geenen was requested to prepare an opinion on the smoothest and most equitable procedure to follow.

Gathering Hears of 'Communist Threat'

Former American Legion Head Speaks at Little Chute Service

LITTLE CHUTE — Robert Leklem, past state commander of the American Legion, asked a Memorial Day audience here Monday night to consider "whether we have come close to the goals for which so many gave their lives."

The dangers today are massive, the problems of the world complex and trying, noted the speaker as he warned of the Communist threat which could result in world revolution, and strip man of his belief in God.

He states, "Communism is not stronger, does not have more to offer than our way of life," but might dominate the world because of our inability to recognize the danger until it is too late.

"The cause of freedom is never won completely and this course of freedom never runs smoothly," noted Leklem. He urged the assembly, as they placed spring flowers on graves of departed veterans as symbols of love and devotion, to recall the cornerstones of our American way of life including liberty, human dignity and respect for our fellowman. He felt these attributes must be continued and it was up to the living to insure this.

NLRB Alleges Unfair Practices Against Cohen Brothers

A complain listing alleged unfair labor practices was filed against Cohen Brothers Fruit Co. of Appleton today by the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

Teamsters Local 563 was originally the moving party in complaining the company used unfair labor tactics against employees.

A representation election held at the firm, which has been non-union, was held several weeks ago and ended in a 7-7 deadlock. However, the unfair labor charges come as an aftermath. Named in the complaint by the NLRB, which investigated the union's charges, is Frank Cohen, who is accused of intimidating employees who indicated their preference for joining the union.

Refused to Bargain "At all times since March 16, 1964, the company has refused to bargain in good faith with the union and has instead engaged in a course and conduct designed to undermine and destroy the union's status as a collective bargaining agent," the federal complaint says.

A NLRB trial examiner will conduct a hearing on the charges at the courthouse here on July 26. In the meantime, the company will have an opportunity to answer the complaint.

The company's written answer must be sent to the NLRB within 10 days or the allegations "shall be deemed true and shall be so found by the board," George Squillacote, Milwaukee, regional NLRB director, informed the Cohen concern.

35 Years Later

Belated Dedication for Memorial to War Dead

SHERWOOD — A monument to war dead was dedicated here today, 35 years after it was put up.

Veterans of three wars turned out in uniform to participate in the 12:30 ceremony, at the intersection of State 114-55.

Members of the Leo Van Roy American Legion Post, Darboy, who insigated the original memorial and received $100 from the Town of Harrison for a post historian, who was unable to attend the ceremony Monday the ceremony, assisted by the members of the Thomas E. Kees Legion Post, Sherwood.

The bronze plaque inscribed "In memory of our comrades who fought and died in World War I, that Liberty might live" was stolen in 1964 and despite a newspaper appeals and a reward offered by the Darboy Legion Post, the plaque was never returned.

The dedication was marked by placing a new marble plaque "Dedicated to the veterans of all wars who fought to preserve our liberty," on the two-ton granite rock. The rock was found on the Henry Schaefer farm, north west of here. His son, George, who was Town of Harrison chairman, donated it for the purpose in 1931.

Taking part in the ceremony yesterday, were two of the three World War I veterans originally appointed by the Darboy Legion to construct the monument. John Hartzheim, Sherwood, and Sylvester Meehl, route 1 Menasha.

Dug Three Days They recalled working three days to dig a hole for the boulder 35 years ago, pouring concrete and hauling the giant piece of granite to the intersection. The date is still faintly visible in the concrete.

With a membership of about 15, "just enough to hold a charter," the veterans recalled it took so long after the war to organize a monument committee "because with so few members, money was scarce." The Post now has a membership of 75. The Sherwood Post was organized in 1946.

The late Alois Thiel, the monument committee's third member, approached the town board for the money during an annual meeting. An additional

About another $100,000 will be added to the project cost by straightening and adding to the FAA-recommended "loops" at both ends of the runway. The Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission has recommended that the loops be straightened and made into the first segments of a parallel taxiway.

Joseph Abernathy, a commission engineer, told the two county committees Thursday that there is a "very good chance" that the FAA might appropriate another $50,350 in matching funds for the taxiway project. He explained that the FAA's regional office in Minneapolis has the power to add up to 20 per cent to a total project cost and that $50,350 would be under 20 per cent. Abernathy also explained that he conferred with regional FAA officials who agree that the loops should be abandoned and the start of a parallel taxiway would be more efficient.

To Introduce Resolution The resolution, which will be introduced Wednesday morning says, in part, that "time is of the essence and it is necessary for the county board, in order to take advantage of this grant, to provide additional monies on the part of the county so that a total sum of money may be provided for building the crosswind runway and other necessary accessories."

Two Stations Get Approval Of Planners

Northside Group Fights Rezoning on Wisconsin Avenue

Rezoning and variance recommendations by the city plan commission today paved the way for construction of two more service stations on W. Wisconsin Avenue.

The stations, if the Appleton Council goes along with the commission's action, will be at the corners of Gillett-Wisconsin and Douglas-Wisconsin.

Recently, the Northside Advancement Association condemned the construction of any more stations on Wisconsin Avenue and Ald. Clifford Rader (16th) says he will introduce an ordinance calling for a construction moratorium.

Menasha Ordinance (Menasha has an ordinance which limits service station construction. While the question of its legality has been raised periodically, it has never undergone a court test.)

The commission recommended the waiving of rear yard requirements on the south side of Gillett Street where three homes will be razed to make way for the station to be constructed by a major oil company.

The commission was told by property owners and Ald. Norman Beyer (20th) had no objection to the project.

The rear yard waiver is also required for the development at Douglas Street and Wisconsin Avenue, along with the rezoning of about 25 feet of property.

Planning commissioners were unanimous in their recommendations. Wisconsin Avenue is becoming lined with service stations.

A new station was opened recently at Oneida Street and another is to be constructed on Meade Street at the site of the Gay Spot Tavern, which will eventually be torn down.

Retired Officer Says Day No Longer Quiet

KAUKAUNA — "You and I, through elected representatives, sent men to Viet Nam and we must now stand behind them regardless of cost, sacrifice and doubt," Lt. Col. Olin Dryer, U.S. Army (ret.), told a Memorial Day audience here Monday morning.
Speaking of the 300,000 men and women who face death and mutilation in Viet Nam, Dryer urged all to support these men and women who love their country and stand behind it by answering the call to arms. Those who die must be replaced regardless of draft dodgers, draft card burners and demonstrators, said the speaker.
Memorial Day originally was designated as a quiet day in which Americans remembered those who gave their lives for this nation, but today it is not a quiet day for all Americans, noted Dryer. He pointed to the Indianapolis race, double-header baseball games, thousands crowding golf courses and hundreds who die on highways, as people who did not observe the quiet holiday.

Post Office To be Ready In Mid-July

MENASHA — Expansion and remodeling of the post office here is expected to be completed by about July 15, nearly two months behind the original May 20 target date but just under the wire for the contract deadline of July 17.
With minor exceptions, workmen have moved inside for the final stages of work on the $433,500 project begun late last summer and delayed during the fall by a local strike against concrete supplies.
For the most part, according to Vernon Hickey, Chicago-based inspector for the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA), which oversees federal construction jobs, postal workers are beginning to return to normal after months of makeshift conditions while construction progressed.
When the last scaffolding is taken down and construction debris is cleaned up, the postal facility will have nearly double the size of the original work floor with the addition of some 3,000 square feet.

Army Chaplain's Story Depicted In Exhibit Van

The story of U. S. Army chaplains will be told in Appleton today through Thursday in a special mobile exhibit appearing at Valley Fair Shopping Center.

Visitors to the outdoor exhibit will walk through a chapel-like van that graphically relates the story of Army chaplains.

The history, purpose and mission of all Army chaplains, wherever there are American fighting men, is explained through push-button earphone recordings. Photos, paintings and colorful transparencies depict chaplains fulfilling their missions on the battlefield and at outposts around the world.

The mobile van contains a small chapel, complete with altar and pews. By fingertip control, visitors can activate a revolving platform which appoints the chapel with a Protestant, Catholic or Jewish altar.

The exhibit is currently on a nationwide tour. It is open to the public without charge.

Board Okay Sought for Port Funds

Ralph H. Burke, Inc., Park Ridge, Ill. (the county's airport design and engineering consultant), will show supervisors a sketch of what proposed 1966-67 construction includes, what the appearance of the airport will be after the proposed new construction, and will outline facts and figures which show the need for the county's share of $500,500.

County and state officials hope construction can begin by Aug. 1. The special board meeting Wednesday will expedite planning so that construction bids can be let earlier.

At last Thursday's joint executive - airport committee meeting, supervisors indicated that the county also intends to immediately file a new FAA application which would be a fund request to share in the cost of building a 1,000 foot addition to the new runway (making it 6,200 by 150 feet) and adding to the taxiway so that it fully parallels the new runway. The taxiway would be 75 feet wide. The 1967 aid request would also contain requests for funds for other airport accessories.

Council to Decide

Outagamie Tavern League Favors Women Bartenders

The Outagamie County Tavern League came out today for womanhood—behind the bar.

President Al Breitrick wrote city officials the League would support the issuance of bartenders' licenses to women.

Another attempt will be made at Wednesday night's Appleton Council meeting to amend an ordinance championing the cause of women as bartenders.

Shortage of Help
The ordinance now bans issuance of a license to any female 21 years of age or over. Prior to it being a written law, the council had a long-standing policy against licensing barmaids.

For some time there has been a great shortage of help available for the service trades such as the handling of foods and the tavern business," Breitrick wrote City Clerk Elden Broehm.

Breitrick said for years women of the operator's immediate family have been allowed to tend bar without being required to have a license.

Under existing ordinance, women who are not of the immediate family may tend bar as long as there is a licensed operator on the premises, Breitrick wrote.

"This is not advantageous to most outlets," Breitrick said. "There are many hours of the day when two people are not required to fulfill the needs of the trade and additional operating expense occurs."

Breitrick said the Tavern League has been informed by tavernowners where women are permitted to tend bar, that customers are more easily controlled and establishments are kept cleaner.

Recently a woman applied for a bartender's license—her second attempt in recent months—and this is expected to be the next test case before the Appleton Council.

Last week, Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette rendered a legal opinion that an ordinance, such as the one at Appleton banning issuance of operator's licenses to women, was legal and valid.

Thus, it becomes optional whether or not Appleton residents want ordinances permitting gals in front or in back of bars—or both.

MT. RUSHMORE

The faces are big as were the men. Carved into the eternal granite of Mt. Rushmore (elev. 6200) in the South Dakota Black Hills are the faces of four men from three eras. Nearly two million people come every year to see George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt tower above them; the four faces are proportionate to men 465 feet tall. How high the lives of these men towered above the countrymen in whom they placed their faith can be measured only by the course of the American ideals they built.

Start Collecting Specimens And Start Interesting Hobby

BY CAPPY DICK

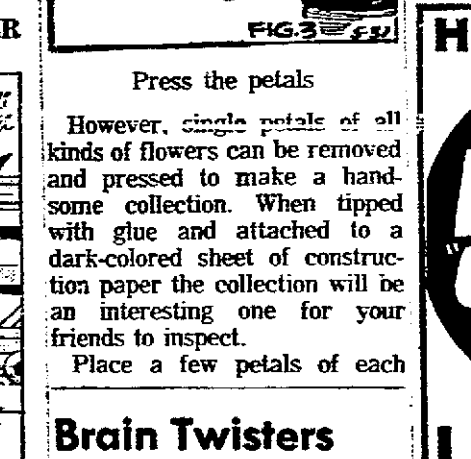

Boys and girls who like to collect flowers and press them in an old book (Figure 1). Be sure the book is an unimportant one because the moisture of the petals may stain the pages in spite of the waxed paper.

When the petals have dried, remove them from the book and mount them with glue in any fancy arrangement (Figure 2) on a piece of black or dark green construction paper.

Place the glue only at the base of each petal, not over the entire base.

The sheet of petals (Figure 3) can be protected from handling by covering it with a piece of thin plastic. The edges of the plastic can be folded over the paper and held in place at the back with transparent tape.

BY TV SCOUT
6:30-7:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — Combat has an interesting, but highly improbable drama, "Main Event." Jack Carter is a cocky boxing manager who goes to great length to keep his fighting discovery, Ben Cooper, from going on a dangerous mission to blow up a bridge. (R)

7-7:30 (Channels 4-5) — Please Don't Eat the Daisies has a long plug for The Man From U.N.C.L.E., but it is an amusing one for fans of both series. (R-Color)

7:30-8 (Channels 4-5) — Take one big, strong, virile, rugged, outdoorsy, hard-drinking, wenching movie star, send him to be examined by Dr. Kildare and what do you get? A two-part tale about the actor who thinks he has cancer and is disappointed to learn he really has a "bum's disease," cirrhosis, which decidedly is not in his image. (R-Color)

Actor Andrew Tracey of the Broadway play "Wait a Minim" trips along New York's 99th Street with his bride Heather Beard on his arm after their marriage in St. Michael Episcopal Church. Piped on their way to the reception by Joe Rae Miller, the couple epitomizes the "merry, merry month of May." The bride, from South Africa, carries a bouquet of protea, national flower of her homeland. Tracey, member of the Campbell clan, wears the clan kilts while Miller wears the kilts of the McCloud clan. Desi Arnaz Back at Desilu, but as Renter

Former Wife Lucille Ball His Landlady; To Occupy Suite of Late David Selznick

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After a three-year absence, Desi Arnaz is back at work in the studio that bears his name. But there's a difference.
Whereas the onetime bongo drum-pounder once ruled the Desilu empire, he is now a renter of space at Desilu Culver studio. He occupies the suite which David O. Selznick used until his death last year. In honor of Desi's return, the place has been redecorated from "Gone With the Wind" decadent to California casual.
The lady who ordered the redecoration is Lucille Ball, Desi's former wife and costar, and his successor as president of Desilu.

stock when he stepped out of the business three years ago. Why did he leave?
"For a number of reasons," he said. "I found that I was working terribly hard, mostly in the rough figure of about 270 things that I wasn't particularly interested in. I was stuck with the managerial end of running three studios with 3,000 employees. That wasn't what I got into the business for."

And so he quit. His marriage to Lucille had already come to an end. He sold out to her and Century-Fox television department later married Mrs. Edith Hensch. He looked after his horse breeding farm at Corona, Calif., which he terms a $2 million enterprise. He raced his

Cite Modest Hikes In Red Missile Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials report the Soviet Union has increased modestly its force of intercontinental ballistic missiles.
The officials gave no figures, but said the U.S. advantage of about three or four to one in ICBMs "has not been altered." A year ago, U.S. officials used the rough figure of about 270 ICBMs for the Soviet Union. Presumably, the number of such in-place missiles now has passed the 300 mark.

horses, kept an eye on his Indian Wells resort at Palm Desert, played golf and fished.

Then he got interested in a book, "With Our Consent," contracted for a movie script. CBS boss William Paley heard about it and asked if Desi would be interested in a return to TV. "I've got nothin' against TV," Desi replied. "But I'm not interested in taking over the 20th Century-Fox television department. I can operate my own horse breeding farm at Corona, way, without getting involved with executive matters, then I'm interested."

Strange Anxiety Surrounds Dominicans on Election Eve

Trouble Possible From Supporters Of Loser in Expected Close Fight

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — The Dominican Republic reaches another decisive moment Wednesday in its long, frustrating search for some sort of democratic system, and a strange, indefinable mood seems to have settled over this tortured little island nation.

There is suppressed excitement on the eve of national elections which conceivably could bring new, bloody chaos. There seems to be little real optimism about the future, but there seems to be little real pessimism either.

Until the elections are behind them, Dominicans cannot be sure that elections are going to be held successfully at all. But that is only the first hurdle.

More Hurdles
The chances are that hurdle will be taken. The next will be acceptance of the result. If the vote Wednesday is close and that seems likely — there is a good chance for trouble from supporters of the man who is declared the loser.

If that hurdle is taken, there are still others. Any president declared elected must be successfully inaugurated. Then he must remain in office. In a country like the Dominican Republic it will not be easy.

The two major candidates, Juan Bosch of the Dominican Revolutionary party — PRD — and Joaquin Balaguer of the Reform party — PR — each bears a burden of political liability.

Bosch, overthrown in September 1963 after seven months as the nation's first democratically elected president, was accused then of being soft on communism. The charge remains to haunt him. Balaguer became president in 1961 after the assassination of the dictator, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, under whom he had served as vice president. The charge of Trujilloism remains to haunt him.

Should Balaguer win by a tight margin, there could be an explosion in the streets sparked by leftists. Should Bosch win by a close margin, the reaction might be more slow, but he could be in danger from right-wing elements in the armed forces.

Schooling for Tots Sought

Mandatory Training For 4-, 5-Year-Old Called Beneficial

WASHINGTON (AP) — An education commission called today for mandatory schooling for four- and five-year-olds and urged the federal government to provide general support for the revolutionary proposal.

The Educational Policies Commission said "education in this two-year period can affect the character of the child and all his future life more deeply than his education at any later period."

"Early childhood education, properly conducted, promises significant benefits to American life," it said.

In a report titled "Universal Opportunity for Early Childhood Education," the commission described the current practice of starting children to school at the age of six as "obsolete" since most children that age "have already developed a considerable part of the intellectual ability they will possess as adults."

Proposed Policy
The commission, jointly sponsored by the National Education Association of School Administrators, regularly publishes statements of proposed policy regarding education.

The report emphasized that "children commonly called 'disadvantaged' are in the greatest need for early schooling, for they are most in need of help in developing their ability to live independently and creatively in a modern society."

At present, it said, schooling for four-year-olds is rarely free of cost and therefore is least available to those children who most desperately need it.

But the report added: "Not only those commonly considered disadvantaged are disadvantaged in their lives at home. The pampered also are disadvantaged: so are those whose parents are obsessed with the need to impress and achieve, those whose parents show them little love, those who have little chance to play with other children, those with physical handicaps."

Youth Charged In 6 Murders In Richmond

18-Year-Old Gives Himself Up; Also Faces Rape Count

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Richmond police, stumped for weeks by six metropolitan area slayings, have charged Thomas Lee Penn, 19, with murder in four of the killings. Police said he would be charged with murder in the other two today.

Penn, a Negro, was arrested Monday morning when he walked into police headquarters and gave himself up. He was charged then with malicious wounding and rape of a 14-year-old girl who had been shot and left for dead.

Police said Penn was charged in the four slayings after "we obtained a signed and detailed statement from the accused."

Penn was charged with murder in the deaths of Addison E. Wilkins, 20, an antwar worker from New York, and Malcolm L. Norment, 41, a motel clerk, both found shot to death May 21 near an East End cemetery.

Cynthia Johnson, 16, fatally shot May 10 in the city's East End; and Mosile Leon Spencer, 78, shot to death during the holdup of the motel where he worked March 10.

2 White, 2 Negro
Wilkins and Norment were white; Spencer and the Johnson girl were negroes.

The other two victims, James H. Carter, 32, and Willie Sexton, 21, were found shot to death in nearby eastern Henrico County.

Carter was white, Sexton a Negro. Penn's brother, William, 25, was arrested and charged with murder in Carter's death but has not been named in connection with any of the other slayings.

The 14-year-old girl left for dead provided her assailant's description to police.

More British Buses Arriving in Havana

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Twenty-three more British-built buses arrived Monday in Havana. Havana Radio, monitored in Miami, said the buses will begin operating immediately on Havana streets.

The broadcast said 654 British buses now are serving the Havana metropolitan area and another 146 vehicles will be added to the capital city's transportation system before the end of the year.

Cuba has received 737 buses from the British firm Leyland Motors, according to the news-cast.

Japanese Leftists Plan Further Protests Against Sub in Tokyo Bay

TOKYO (AP) — Leftists' south of Tokyo by the Communist and Socialist parties. Police said 30 policemen and 21 students were injured in clashes Monday and another 20 persons were hurt Sunday, when the protests started.

Sailors Unhurt
None of the demonstrators molested the sailors from the Snook or from the carrier Kitty Hawk and other American ships in port. Weaving through the demonstrators, the sailors went as usual to Yokosuka's shops and 270 bars and clubs.

"We do not intend to harass American sailors or cause trouble," said one demonstration organizer. "We want our protests to be peaceful and orderly."

Privately some demonstrators said they did not want to do anything to hurt Yokosuka's thriving trade with U.S. servicemen. But both police and demonstration leaders said they were worried about members of the radical Zengakuren Students Association.

Tie Denied
"They are botheads," said an organizer. "They are here on their own, and not part of our group."
Police and leftist leaders blamed the students for most of the scuffles with police. The students also tore down posters which shopkeepers put up to welcome the Snook.

Noisy leftist demonstrations accompanied each of the eight visits by five other U.S. nuclear vessels to Sasebo, another U.S. naval base 500 miles southwest of Tokyo. The number of demonstrators had dwindled with each call, however.

The leftists stepped up their protests for the Snook's port call because it is the first to Yokosuka and because Yokosuka is close to heavily populated Tokyo. Authorities mobilized 5,000 policemen to keep the demonstrators in check.

Cuban Raider Led by Veteran Of Other Attacks
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Exile sources say a commando leader with a record of more than a dozen anti-Castro missions to Cuba led last weekend's ill-fated infiltration attempt denounced by the Cuban government.

They said they had learned the fate of the 39-year-old revolutionary, Tony Cuesta. A Cuban government communiqué said two invaders were killed, two men were wounded and captured and two were missing and presumed drowned.

Cuesta's last reported action occurred last November, when a vessel under his command shot at the waterfront home of Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos. The men missed their target but hit an aquarium 30 yards from the home.

Javits Bends Tradition In Semi-Openly Asking Vice Presidential Bid

Friends Told New York Senator Would Quit Seat for Nomination

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — It is an American tradition that no politician runs openly for vice president. Sen. Jacob K. Javits isn't exactly breaking that tradition but he may be bending it. In a field where few men care to publicly venture, Javits quietly is trying to narrow down — to himself — the GOP's choice of a 1968 vice presidential candidate.

Although the New York Republican insists publicly he has made no decision, he has told Javits' running for the 1968 nomination as a favorite son candidate from New York.

If Rockefeller is re-elected, Javits' friends will be reminding him of the favorite son support. If the governor should lose, the delegation will be Javits' by default.

These prospects put the New York senator in a potentially powerful position to have something to say about the top nomination. He doesn't necessarily have to hitch his aspirations to Romney's wagon.

Javits friends privately he would be willing to give up his Senate seat to get the Republican second-place nomination two years from now.

Javits' current term expires in 1969 and New York has no provision by which he can run for both the Senate and vice president.

First Jew
Behind Javits' willingness to risk his political future is his desire to become the first Jewish candidate on a major party ticket. It is his private opinion that this would be a crowning achievement for a political career in which he has gone all out for civil rights.

It also is Javits' view that if John F. Kennedy had not won the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, it would have been another decade before a Roman Catholic breakthrough in the political field. He feels the Jews may be 10 years away from a similar achievement if he fails to get the second place spot in 1968.

Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has gone a long way toward linking Javits' vice-presidential aspirations to the presidential hopes of Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

Romney-Javits
In a Garden City, N.Y., speech last week, Rockefeller said he had bowed out of the presidential picture "forever" and suggested that Romney and Javits should share the top spots on the 1968 Republican ticket.

The New York governor also said he would be in favor of

Bomb Explodes In Manhattan Subway Station

NEW YORK (AP) — One woman suffered a serious eye injury and another was hurt slightly when a bomb exploded in a telephone booth in a Manhattan subway station.

The explosion Monday was beneath the Municipal Building, a short distance from City Hall.

It tore apart two phone booths and showered glass and metal in an area where about 10 persons were walking.

Police said it could have been far more serious if the device, which resembled a huge firecracker, had gone off on a normal work day.

Doctors removed glass fragments from the right eye of Carrie Manguni, 38, of Brooklyn, and said she would need more surgery.

The other injured woman, Maria Ortiz, 18, of the Bronx, was cut slightly by flying glass.

Youngsters Fish On Downtown Lawn

CRANBROOK, B.C. (AP) — It rained so hard in Cranbrook Monday you could pick up fish from the lawn in a downtown park.

An inch of rain in less than an hour backed an underground river through a storm sewer into the park. With the river came dozens of trout, some of them 12 inches long.

Children scooped them up and took them home for dinner.

Children Treated After Inhaling Gas Fumes at Baraboo

WISCONSIN DELLS (AP) — Two Waunakee, Ill., children were treated at a Baraboo hospital Monday after they were overcome by gas fumes at a trailer camp near here.

Louis Grant told Sauk County sheriff's deputies he found two of his daughters, Tracy, 2, and Debbie, 3, were ill when he awakened early Memorial Day to light a small gas heater.

Grant, his wife and the five Grant children were taken to the hospital. They were later released.

Assistance Will be Useless If Interest Hiked, AID Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agency for International Development says higher interest rates on U.S. loans to developing countries will cripple American assistance in promoting economic progress overseas.

AID said in a statement Monday the development of backward countries already is threatened by climbing debt costs. An interest hike, it said, would cost the equivalent of $400 million a year worth of U.S. aid appropriations.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has voted to raise the interest rate on development loans from 2.5 per cent to the rate currently charged by the U.S. Treasury for long-term borrowing. The Treasury rate now is 4.5 per cent.

AID also objected to the committee's rejection of President Johnson's plea to put the overseas assistance program on a five-year basis. The committee voted to keep the program on a one-year plan.

The committee's action last week occurred as it worked on the $3.4-billion AID authorization bill for the year starting July 1.

AID noted that external debts of developing countries rose from $10 billion in 1955 to $30 billion in 1964. Interest payments, it said, increased from $800 million to more than $4 billion in the period.

"AID minimum loan terms are already hard enough — if they are not too hard," the agency said. An increase, in U.S. rates, it added, would impair U.S. efforts to get other advanced nations to soften their foreign aid loan terms.

Maury Wills Proves How Serious Braves Pitching Problem Is

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—It took only seconds Monday night to hammer out the verdict on just how badly the Atlanta Braves pitching staff is ailing this year.

The testimony was provided by Los Angeles' Maury Wills, fleet of foot but normally minuscule in muscle, who rapped a leadoff homer to trigger a 10-6 Dodgers' walkaway.

Wills' homer was his first since Aug. 31, 1964.

It started a 16-hit Los Angeles attack. Not one of five Atlanta pitchers went untouched.

The loss was pinned on Tony Cloninger, the 24-victory ace of the Braves' staff when they were in Milwaukee a year ago.

Cloninger, who has seldom been effective since Manager Bobby Bragan left him in all the way for a 13-inning loss on the opening night in Atlanta, is now 3-6 this season.

The Dodgers never trailed after Wills' blow.

Chase Cloninger

They chased Cloninger with a four-run uprising in the top of the third Don Drysdale, the winning pitcher, started the rout with a double and Wills duplicated it. Tommy Davis also doubled. Rico Carty's throwing error and a passed ball by Joe Torre complicated the Braves' troubles.

Drysdale also singled home a run in the fourth and set up another run in the sixth with a sacrifice bunt as the Dodger fireballer evened his record at 4-4.

Cloninger was charged with five runs in 2 and 13 innings. Phil Niekro, the second of his would-be rescuers, allowed four more runs in just one inning.

The hitters' haven that the Atlanta park is was aptly demonstrated not only by Wills, but by the Braves, who scored all but one of their runs on homers.

Torre, trailing only teammate Hank Aaron's 16 homers for National League honors, sent his 12th shot out of the park on a solo effort in the sixth. Mack Jones hit a two-run blast in the seventh. Denis Menke rapped another two-run homer with two out the ninth.

Hill Started Racing Career in 1956 After Borrowing $14 for Instructions

LONDON (AP)—Graham Hill, the oldest rookie in the ing driving. He was out of work at the time, having quit his job as an instrument manufacturer.

Hill started his racing career in 1956 after borrowing $14 from a friend to take lessons in racing.

Clark three times in the first three-quarters of the race, two when the hard-pressed Scot went into spins—both times without hitting anything—and once by outrunning Clark on the mainstretch.

Jim McElreath, Arlington, Tex., finished third in a Gerhardt-Ford. Rookie Mel Kenyon of Davenport, Iowa, who lost most of his left hand in a racing accident last year, was awarded fifth place, highest for an Offenhauser-powered car, and lacked only one lap of finishing when the race was declared ended.

Jehoncock was fourth. With the yellow caution light on 40 minutes of the race, compared with only 13 minutes in 1965, Hill's average speed of 144.317 m.p.h. was far off Clark's record 150.888.

The total purse and prize division will not be announced until the traditional victory dinner tonight. Clark won $166,621 last year.

The 11 other failures went out with assorted mechanical troubles, including leaders Andretti, broken valve; Lloyd Ruby, Wichita Falls, Tex., oil leak; and Stewart, oil pressure failure.

Stewart almost added the Indianapolis 500 to his May 22 Monaco Grand Prix victory, leading the field by more than a lap at one time before his Lola-Ford failed with 25 miles to go.

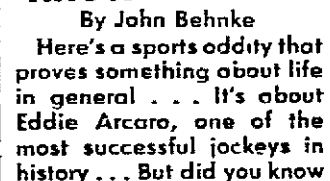

Hill also drove an English-American hybrid Lola-Ford, owned by John Mecom Jr. of Houston.

SPORT FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Behnke

Here's a sports oddity that proves something about life in general . . . It's about Eddie Arcaro, one of the most successful jockeys in history . . . But did you know that at the beginning of his career in 1931 and 1932, he rode 250 — that's right, 250 — consecutive losers before he won his first race!

. . . You'd think after going to the post that often, and losing every time, Arcaro would have quit; but he practiced patience, perseverance and hard work and it finally paid off . . . After that miserable start of 250 straight losing races, Eddie became the greatest money winning jockey in history . . .

He went on to win 4,779 races in his career and earned more than a million dollars! . . . But back in 1931 and 1932 no one would have predicted that.

Do you know how Casey Stengel got his nickname? . . . When Stengel first entered baseball, he told his teammates that he was from Kansas City, and they began calling him "K.C.", or "Casey" after the initials of Kansas City . . . And, needless to say, that name has stuck ever since and become one of the most famous nicknames in baseball history.

I bet you didn't know . . . we now have in stock the Pacer by Jiffies. Looks like a loafer, feels like a slipper and is different from anything you have ever worn. $5.00

Clemente hammered a two-run homer in the seventh inning of the nightcap that sent the Pirates in front of Chicago stay. He had driven in Pittsburgh's first run of the game with a sacrifice fly in the fifth as the Pirates pecked away at an early 3-0 Cub lead.

Has Three Errors

Chicago shortstop Don Kessinger committed three errors in the first game, the last one permitting Clemente to score from second base with the winning run in the eighth inning. Clemente had homered in the sixth of the opener.

Four home runs helped Jim Bunning win his sixth straight game for Philadelphia in the opener against the Mets. Bill White, Johnny Callison, Bob Uecker and Richie Allen all connected for the Phillies.

The four-time American League home run champion won't admit it, but he apparently tries harder after a bad game.

After committing a costly error in the first game of a day-night doubleheader Monday, the Twins' third baseman smashed two home runs in the nightcap as Minnesota won 7-4 for a split with Baltimore.

The Orioles won the first game 5-1 as Dave Johnson drilled four straight singles and Woody Held and Andy Etchebarren hit home runs.

These are the months when used car buying roars to a seasonal peak, and to indicate how loud this roar can be, we spent $20 billion to buy an estimated 22 million used cars in 1965 alone.

A prolonged era of enormous turnover in used cars is a certainty, if for no other reason: than the entrance of the post-World War II babies into the 18-19 year age range and thus into this guide at the loan department of your local bank.) It lists current wholesale and retail values of virtually all models, makes and years of U.S. and foreign cars. Prices vary according to the car's condition which may range from "extra clean" to "rough." Also check and compare prices offered by other dealers in your area.

Marr Fashions Even Par 70 in Golf Day Round

PGA Titleholder Tops Open Champ Gary Player by One

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Dave Marr has given some 100,000 golfers a tough score — par 70 — to shoot at if they want to earn a Beat The Champion certificate from the PGA.

All entrants must record a score of one-under-par, including handicap, to beat Marr, who fired a 33-37-70 at the Firestone Country Club layout Monday to win National Golf Day's Round of Champions by one stroke over Gary Player.

Marr, PGA titleholder, toured the front nine of the 7,100-yard, par 70 course in two under, but was two over on the last nine to break even. Player, U.S. Open champ from South Africa, finished 37-34-71 and kept hitting to his left on the front nine.

"I have no excuses," he said. "I just played a lot of junk."

Three-Stroke Lead
Marr jumped to a three-stroke lead with a birdie on the first hole and an eagle on the 500-yard, par 5 second. Two wood shots put him 35 feet from the pin and he made the first putt.

Then he shot par until a bogey on the 465-yard ninth. Player rushed on the course after spending the night in Columbus with Jack Nicklaus and was four strokes down after the first nine. Player got to within one stroke when Marr took a bogey on the 12th, but he fell behind again with a bogey on the 13th.

Player picked up one stroke on the 10th when his approach shot hit a rake on the fringe of the green and bounced 50 feet to within three feet of the flag.

The Firestone Club is the site of the PGA National Championship July 20-23.

These are the months when used car buying roars to a seasonal peak, and to indicate how loud this roar can be, we spent $20 billion to buy an estimated 22 million used cars in 1965 alone.

(5) Test drive any used car you are considering. If you are not competent to detect mechanical problems yourself, have your mechanic do the driving.

(6) Request a warranty stating specifically what reconditioning has been performed on the car, exactly what repairs the dealer will and will not pay for, the term of the warranty, whether the car is guaranteed to pass state inspection. Make sure all the dealer's promises are in writing.

(7) If the dealer promises to make repairs be sure he finishes the work before you buy the car.

(8) If you are buying a used car on time, shop for credit at local lending institutions to find the best deal for you. Before signing any sales contract, understand exactly what the total interest and other charges will be — not just the amount of the monthly instalment.

Irish President Faces Tough New Opponent

Young Lawyer Doing Hard Campaigning Against DeValera

By MICHAEL ROONEY

DUBLIN (AP) — Eamon de Valera, who once in the fight for Irish freedom escaped a British firing squad because he was American-born, is facing another fight.

In Wednesday's election for the presidency, incumbent De Valera seeks to beat down a stiff challenge from Thomas F. O'Higgins, a Dublin lawyer.

"Dev" is rated a favorite in his bid for a second seven-year term, but it could be close, depending how the voters turn out.

De Valera has run as a silent candidate, holding that the office of president keeps him above politics.

O'Higgins barnstormed the country with his charming wife in the style of an American campaign.

No Direct Attack

Steering clear of criticizing De Valera personally, he has called for "new thinking in Ireland" and directed his appeal to the future.

What Ireland needs, O'Higgins told rallies, is someone to sell Ireland.

He observed: "We would, indeed, be a poor and servile people if we allowed it to go forth that only one party or one man could speak for Ireland or express in honor and dignity the true aspiration of our people."

Those who suggest this mean our people before the eyes of other countries as a nation captive to the past and incapable of facing the challenge of the modern world."

O'Higgins is 49. De Valera is 83.

No Campaign

De Valera, stalwart despite his years and failing eyesight, has campaigned in a low key tution he drafted for the republic.

O'Higgins is the nominee of the opposition Fine Gael — us alone — party. His uncle, Kevin O'Higgins, was one of the founders of modern Ireland and a national hero. He was murdered by fellow countrymen while walking to Mass in 1927.

The outcome of the presidential election could have an impact on the Lemass government. Should De Valera lose, or win by a small margin, the clamor is likely to arise for a new general election.

Lemass' Fianna Fail party now has only a slim majority in the Dail, Ireland's Parliament, with only more frequent social engagements and no appearances at rallies.

But his supporters, led by Prime Minister Sean Lemass, a protégé who succeeded him as leader of the ruling Fianna Fail party, took the stump for him.

And they made clear the issue was De Valera the man, in the traditional style of Irish politics that sometimes baffles foreigners by its homespun tone.

"Since De Valera has spent 50 years at the center of public affairs, it would be superfluous to explain his qualifications for the presidency," declared Lemass. "It will not be contested that he fulfilled the duties in a manner that did honor to the office."

No Bitterness

De Valera has confided to newsmen privately — he hates to be quoted — that should he be defeated he will leave office without bitterness.

As a winner, "Dev" would be 90 at the end of the term, barred from a third term by the constitution.

Georgia City to Lose Hearse-Ambulances

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The City of Augusta faces the prospect of being without ambulance service. Three funeral homes have announced they would discontinue the service as of June 30.

The funeral homes cited the increasing demands for ambulances because of Medicare.

aging and arthritic, has just survived another winter and seems to be feeling his oats.

One would never know to look at him — or would one — that only his doctor's shots and plenty of affection kept Bill going through the cold months.

There were times when it appeared that Bill wouldn't make it. A few months ago when he overate. It took three large bottles of castor oil and other medication to pull him through.

Bill is a horse — a large, black draft horse with a blaze of white running down his nose.

But Bill isn't just any horse —

he's a 43-year-old horse, according to his owners, Mr. and Mrs.

Merle Booten.

Oldest Alive

That would make him one of the oldest horses alive.

Dr. Harold Adams, Bill's personal veterinarian, said it's scientifically difficult to pinpoint the exact age of a horse older than 25.

"But Old Bill is the oldest horse I've ever seen — or heard of," he said.

Broken to Plow

The Booten family has owned

Bill for 18 years. For the last 10, he has been enjoying his twilight years keeping the grass short in a pasture behind a nursery operated by the Boo-ten.

Bill originally was broken to the plow, but now he's only a pet.

"The family that broke him to a plow when he was young has kept track of him," Mrs. Booten said. "That's how we figured his age."

Mrs. Booten said the family's first concern every day is of Bill.

"All of us look out to the pasture every morning to see if Bill is standing. We live with the dread of looking out and seeing him down some morning."

Dr. Adams said he has attended Bill so frequently he can almost tell by the way the horse looks at him if he's hurting.

Which prompted one bard to write Mrs. Booten: "Old Bill has borne for many years."

"Rhumatic pains and ills: And learned exactly how to look,

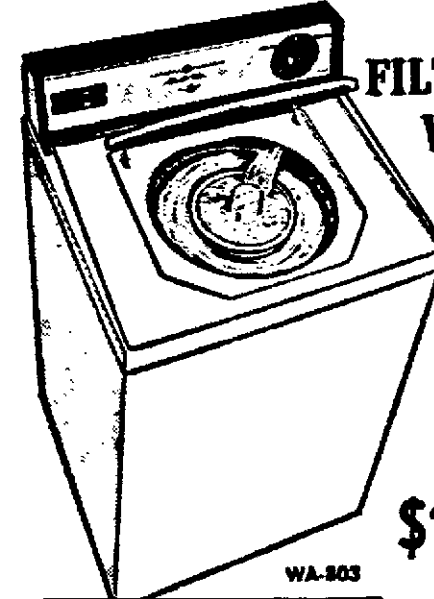

"To get Doc Adams' pills."

Surveyor Heads Toward Soft Moon Landing

Space Officials Say Maneuvers
Were Successful

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 1 cruised today toward a new and hopefully smoother landing site on the moon after a tricky steering maneuver 97,000 miles out in space.

Jet Propulsion Laboratory officials, who are guiding the 2,200-pound camera-carrying craft toward a soft landing in the dry Sea of Storms late Wednesday, said Surveyor responded properly to all commands during the intricate change of course.

They said it would take several hours of tracking to be sure Surveyor's new course will bring it down, as now planned, about 20 miles north of the point picked prior to Monday's launch.

New Elite

The new site was chosen to give the spacecraft the smoothest possible landing area in the 62-mile diameter target circle — at the western edge of the 1,700-mile long equatorial strip selected for future Apollo astronaut touchdowns.

Like the Soviet Luna 9, which soft-landed and televised pictures from the lunar surface February 3, Surveyor is pioneering a technique planned to deposit manned craft gently on the moon.

This technique — descending slowly while balancing on the thrust of downward firing rockets — is believed the only safe way to land on the airless moon.

In the maneuver at 2:45 a.m. EDT, the spacecraft was ordered to roll and yaw slowly to the left, aiming it in the desired direction. A 20-second burst from three small rockets drove it forward along the new flight path.

Center of Gravity

Officials said there was no indication so far that the steering maneuver was disturbed by any shift in the craft's center of gravity, a possibility that arose when radioed data indicated an antenna boom may not have extended fully after launch.

There was still a chance that a shift in the center of gravity might cause the craft to tumble and crash when the descent-breaking rockets are ignited on the final approach to the moon. If all goes well, however, Surveyor will radio across 230,000 miles of space pictures almost as sharp as those seen on home television screens, showing terrain details as small as a pencil lead.

These pictures should give scientists a better idea of whether the lunar surface is strong enough to support the weight of large manned landing craft.

Five Drown In Wisconsin

2 Still Missing in Lake Michigan;
Search Called Off

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Five persons were believed to have drowned in Wisconsin over Memorial Day weekend.

Coast Guard craft called off a three-day search of Lake Michigan for two missing Port Washington youths Monday night.

A hospital patient, a Minnesota teenager and a small boy drowned in Wisconsin lakes in other accidents.

The toll contrasted sharply with Memorial Day weekend one year ago when Wisconsin escaped without any water deaths.

Missing on Lake Michigan and presumed drowned were Army Pvt. John Engle, 19, and Carl Bichler, 20, a college student. Engle's 14-foot boat was washed ashore Sunday, one day after the pair left Port Washington for a short cruise.

Both Victims

The Ozaukee County sheriff's office said both were being listed as drowning victims.

The body of William Johnson, 18, St. Paul, Minn., was recovered Monday from Silver Lake 10 miles east of the Polk County seat of Balsam Lake. The teenager drowned Saturday night when a boat capsized on the lake near his family's summer cottage.

Two fishermen found the body of Lee Bradford, 62, La Crosse, in Lake Koshong near La Crosse Sunday night. Bradford, a patient at La Crosse County Hospital, frequently went swimming in the lake, authorities said.

Wednesday Launch

Gemini 9 Team Ready as 'Go' Flashes Around World

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The "go" light flashed brightly to tracking stations around the world today for the Gemini 9 spacemen to embark on a three-day exploration of some unknowns of space travel.

"We're ready to go," said Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford. His rookie pilot, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan, soon to become the world's champion cosmic stroller, agreed.

They'll ride a mighty Titan rocket into the hostile void of space at 12:38 p.m. (EDT) Wednesday to search the skies for a stubby target satellite, then boldly latch Gemini 9's nose to it.

Their target, known as an Augmented Target Docking Adapter — ATDA, will be powered into a 183-mile high circular course around the globe by an Atlas booster one hour and 38 minutes before the Titan cranks its engines.

Healthy and trained to razor sharpness, the Gemini twins planned a final review of their vital, action-packed mission with top space agency officials during the day. They also hoped to crowd in a few more hours of practice sessions in a mockup version of the tiny Gemini spaceship.

Technicians, sailing along without a hitch on preparations for launching both the Titan and Atlas rockets, scheduled a five-hour check of all systems aboard the 11-story tall Titan before beginning the final countdown leading to launch.

The weather forecast, sometimes a troublemaker to the nation's space efforts, called for satisfactory conditions at blast-off time, both at Cape Kennedy and the ocean recovery areas.

Fact of Family Life

AP Survey Confirms It: Food Costs More

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A housewives' budget brigade concluded today that government price indexes fairly reflect a hard fact of life in the 1960s: it is costing more and more to feed the family.

Many housewives seem firmly convinced that food prices just about doubled in the past year. They didn't, but government figures, supported by an independent Associated Press survey in March, show that the cost of a typical week's shopping went up nearly 7 per cent.

Meats, however, have risen sharply. Based on the government's national price averages, it cost $6.22 to buy one pound each of sirloin steak, hamburger, pork chops, ham, bacon and lamb chops in mid-March, compared with $5.12 in mid-March of 1965 — a rise of 21.5 per cent.

Lesser Rises

By contrast, the other items on the shopping list of the AP's budget brigade rose only 1.5 per cent.

The AP's budget brigade

figures, and the government's, should enable skeptical shoppers to judge for themselves. The AP housewives themselves started out highly skeptical on their 12-city spot survey.

They said food prices overall were unquestionably high, although many a penny could be shaved off the grocery bill by determined bargain-hunting from store to store. Some made the point that few housewives can spare so much time from their other home-making duties.

If a housewife does all her shopping at one store, the researcher in St. Louis said, "It doesn't matter much which store you shop at — they'll get all your money anyway."

Really Bargains

"Each store's weekly bargains really were bargains," she reported. "They cut off as much as 20 or 30 cents per item. But they seem to make it up somewhere else."

The Associated Press budget brigade priced a list of 38 to 40 food items, from potatoes to sirloin steak, in three supermarkets in each of the 12 cities on March 10.

The results were set alongside returns from U. S. Department of Labor checkers who shopped a wider range of stores in the same cities at approximately the same time. (The government checkers also cover stores in 50 smaller cities for which no price breakdown is published).

In the 12 cities where the AP paralleled the government survey, average total bills were remarkably similar and in the case of St. Louis came out at precisely the same figure — $20.43.

Matronly Affair

The government goes about its monthly price-gathering in a coolly scientific way, using 125 checkers working under field supervisors and supported by computers at home base. The AP survey was a matronly affair on a much smaller scale but following in the footsteps of the government checkers.

AP housewives spiced their findings with pointed comments about food prices — like "exorbitant" and "skyrocketing."

Food prices make up only 22.5 per cent of the government's over-all cost of living index, which during the March-to-March period rose 2.5 per cent. However, it is food prices which the housewife encounters face to face every week and is most aware of.

Both AP and government checkers reported Cleveland to be the cheapest city for the over-all food bill. Government checkers came up with a figure of $19.67 for 39 items and the AP housewife found the same items for $18.77.

San Francisco Costly

Government checkers found San Francisco to be the costliest city, with an average price of $21.27 for 39 items compared with $19.70 reported by the AP checker. Costliest city in the AP survey was Boston, with a total of $21.06 compared with the government finding of $21.10.

In between the extremes came Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St.

8 Die in Wisconsin

Memorial Day Toll Hits Unprecedented High Three-Day Total

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death toll on the nation's roads has soared to an unprecedented three-day Memorial Day figure and it may surpass the total fatalities recorded for any Memorial Day weekend regardless of duration.

As of Monday midnight, local time, 519 lives were lost on America's highways. The death count began at 6 p.m. local time Friday.

In other accidents, 43 persons perished in boating mishaps and 90 persons drowned. Ten of the drowning victims were recorded in South Carolina.

The highest previous traffic death toll for a three-day Memorial Day period was 474 last year.

In 1963, 525 persons were killed during a four-day weekend.

Council Forecast

The National Safety Council forecast 540 persons would die during the 78-hour period. The council said Monday the current holiday period was similar to the Fourth of July weekend last year when 547 lives were lost.

Wisconsin's Memorial Day weekend traffic toll halted below the carnage of past years as drivers survived the homeward rush Monday night without a single fatality reported.

The toll for the weekend stood at eight, but only one death was listed for Memorial Day and that came in the early hours of the morning.

Ten persons died in traffic accidents in Wisconsin over the Memorial Day weekend in 1965. The state's all time high for the holiday span was 23 fatalities for the Memorial Day weekend of 1955.

For the year, the state's death count was 323, compared with 336 through the last day of May a year ago.

Only one of the fatal accidents in Wisconsin over the 78-hour holiday involved more than one car.

Other victims died as cars struck trees, a bridge, a guard rail, a creek embankment, or a utility pole.

Sunny skies and pleasant weather throughout most of the nation contributed to motorists' jamming thoroughfares as millions of Americans traveled to recreation areas, athletic events and family gatherings.

California, with more automobiles and miles of freeways than any other state, recorded the highest number of deaths as of midnight, 55.

Worst Accident

The worst single recorded accident occurred in Somerset, Ky., Saturday when five persons died in a three-car collision. Four of the victims were from a vacationing Ohio family.

The lowest three-day rate for a Memorial Day, since records were initiated, was in 1948 when 204 persons died.

The three-day Christmas holiday in 1965 stands as the most tragic highway period with 720 deaths recorded.

The total highway death toll in 1965 was a record 49,900.

Thursday morning, the world may be seeing television pictures of the moon's landscape shortly before Cernan sets out on a record breaking space walk.

A lean, 32-year-old Chicago native, Cernan plans to ease himself out of Gemini 9's right hatch for an exotic stroll through the cosmos that will whip him one and a half times around the world at 17,500 miles an hour.

For 2½ hours, he will be a human satellite. During the initial daylight time he is outside, he will be fed oxygen through a 25-foot umbilical cord from the spacecraft. Then, with a rocket pack on his back, he will attach himself to a 140-foot rope and shoot from place to place for about an hour, asked for them.

The Justice Department sent poll watchers into six counties — Choctaw, Greene, Hale, Marengo, Perry and Sumter — just as it did in the first primary May 3 when 12 counties were put under surveillance.

They were under instructions to look for possible violations of the new federal Voting Rights Act. In two of the counties, Hale and Perry, local officials had asked for them.

Buddhist Chiefs Meet With Military Leaders

Apparently First Round Of Discussions to End Protest of Ky Regime

SAIGON (AP) — Buddhist leaders held a surprise meeting with leaders of the military junta today, apparently the first round of talks to end the anti-government campaign by compromise.

The monks met with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, a Roman Catholic and a target in the Buddhist campaign to force the military junta to resign in favor of a provisional civilian regime.

The meeting came after another Buddhist, a 17-year-old girl, had burned herself to death in Hue, center of government opposition in the North. She was the fifth and possibly the sixth suicide in the wave of anti-government protests.

No Statement

Thich (venerable) Tam Chau, head of the powerful Buddhist Institute, headed the delegation in Dalat and a nun in the Buddhist Institute in Saigon—burned themselves to death Monday. A Buddhist girl was said to have slashed her wrists and bled to death Monday in Dalat, 140 miles northeast of Saigon, but this could not be confirmed.

Damage Exceeds $100 In New London Crash

NEW LONDON — Damage estimated at more than $100 resulted from a two-car collision at Oshkosh and Millard Sts., at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

City police said a car driven by Orville C. Petit, 50, 420 W. Warren St., traveling north on Oshkosh Street, and one driven by Nancy C. Pomeroy, 24, 903 W. Millard St., headed west on Millard, were involved.

No injuries resulted.

Michigan's Mrs. Peterson Says:

progress is within the individual needs of the plain people, today and that the solution of public problems should not deprive that individual of his chance to develop and contribute on the basis of his personal convictions — provided that they do not interfere with the rights of others. The "pseudo-liberal" believes that progress must result primarily from the use of government power and taxpayers' money.

She said that "if such a clear explanation had been laid before the people in 1964, there might not have been such confusion about 'straightening out the present Washington mess, until we repair and tidy up our own Republican Party. We're making progress along that line, but we've still got a long way to go."

She said the GOP, which "is still sore, both emotionally and physically, from the beating" it took in 1964, "had the beating coming" and "we were just lucky we weren't killed. Today," she added, "I think the Republican Party is better off for having taken such a hiding."

Had Lost Confidence The GOP she said, "simply had lost the confidence of Abraham Lincoln's 'plain people.' Lincoln, you remember, once said that 'God must have loved the plain people; he made so many of them.'"

"We became so involved with conservatism, extremism, moderation and liberalism," Mrs. Peterson charged, "that we forgot all about the voters."

She asked the group to "pause and think about what we in Michigan believe are the true definitions of conservatives and liberals."

Defines Conservative "The genuine conservative," she said, "believes in solving problems to the fullest extent possible by using proven principles. The 'pseudo-conservative' either ignores problems or, Solberg, lieutenant governor of division 13, and Jack S. Man-

Pastor Views Effects of Revolutions

Rev. John Sizemore Gives Clintonville Baccalaureate

CLINTONVILLE — The effects of revolutions in world population, science, work and religion were considered by the Rev. John A. Sizemore when he spoke of "The Revolving Generation" during Monday night's baccalaureate service at the senior high school.

He said that in the area of world population, the United States is becoming an increasing minority. The revolution in the field of science covers space travel, exploration and colonization, he said, and pointed out how there won't be any concept of time in outer space.

The revolution in the area of work shows there is no room at the bottom—all the room is at the top and it is going to take more than a high school diploma to make it. He said determination and disciplined efforts are the keys to getting to the top.

Rock The Boat Regarding revolution in religion, the Rev. Mr. Sizemore said, "Many don't want to rock the boat of the Church for fear the keys to heaven may get dumped overboard. Well, I am not sure but what they are carrying around an old set of keys and God has changed the locks."

"An ideal is worthless until it becomes concrete," he emphasized. In the past, "we have always talked about religion and we have not done anything."

The Rev. Mr. Sizemore has served on the Clintonville district board of education the past year and has served as minister of Christ Congregational Church for the past three years.

The senior high school choir directed by Mrs. Richard Kuemper sang during the service.

Stolen Car Recovered Near Clintonville; Tire, Tools, Watch Missing

Missing from the vehicle were a wrist watch, a tire and a set of tools. The car is owned by Michael J. Christman, route 4, Green Bay.

Other officers are Mrs. Robert Jenner, vice president, Mrs. Hazel Hoppe, secretary, and Mrs. Marylee Steinmetz, treasurer.

Deer Is Victim of Motoring Menagerie Near Marion

CLINTONVILLE — Three deer, a dog, cat and two white mice, police said.

A car driven by Gary Norder, route 1, rammed into three deer at 10:20 p.m. Sunday, killing two and crippling the third on U.S. 45 northeast of the city limits.

Norder was traveling north-west when the accident occurred. Damage to his car was estimated at $200, according to the state traffic police report.

The steers owned by Eugene Rice, route 3, got out of the pasture and strayed onto the highway.

State Appeals Board to Hear Petition Protesting CESA Order Putting Land in Marion District

TIGERTON — A public hearing June 9 on a petition protesting an order of the agency school committee of Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) No. 7 okaying the transfer of 370 acres of land from the Tigerton School District to the Marion School District has been scheduled by the State Appeal Board.

The hearing will begin at 1 p.m. in room 421, state capitol building, Madison.

A petition blocking the land transfer was filed by John J. Hanson, Robert Hendricks and Donald Aggen, all of Tigerton, a Request Change

The land detachment and reassignment was requested by Fred and Walter, brothers, and John Hensien, their father, of route 2, Tigerton. They own the land in question.

Michigan's Mrs. Peterson Says:

GOP Becoming Party of People

BY DICK LYNEIS

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Many of them still absorbing the "message of moderation" received last weekend at the state Republican convention in Milwaukee, Outagamie County.

GOP members received a second installment Thursday night from Mrs. Elly Peterson, Michigan's GOP state chairman.

Speaking at Butte des Morts Golf Club for the annual dinner meeting of the Outagamie County Federation of Republican Women, Mrs. Peterson said the GOP isn't going to do much about "straightening out the present Washington mess, until we repair and tidy up our own Republican Party. We're making progress along that line, but we've still got a long way to go."

She said the GOP, which "is still sore, both emotionally and physically, from the beating" it took in 1964, "had the beating coming" and "we were just lucky we weren't killed. Today," she added, "I think the Republican Party is better off for having taken such a hiding."

Had Lost Confidence The GOP she said, "simply had lost the confidence of Abraham Lincoln's 'plain people.' Lincoln, you remember, once said that 'God must have loved the plain people; he made so many of them.'"

"We became so involved with conservatism, extremism, moderation and liberalism," Mrs. Peterson charged, "that we forgot all about the voters."

Defines Conservative "The genuine conservative," she said, "believes in solving problems to the fullest extent possible by using proven principles. The 'pseudo-conservative' either ignores problems or, Solberg, lieutenant governor of division 13, and Jack S. Man-

Graduate Student Percentage Shows Marked Decline at Lawrence University

Applications Drop 11.6 Per Cent Over Record High of 71.8 in 1965

A decline in Lawrence Uni- versity students going directly to graduate school is noted in the class of 1966, according to Registrar Dorothy H. Draheim. The class of 1965 achieved the high mark in graduate ambi- tions to date with 71.8 per cent of the men, 28.6 per cent of the women, for a class average of 51.3 per cent applied for grad- uate work. Of the latter, 47.7 per cent actually enrolled in graduate school last fall. The class of 1964 had 53.2 per cent apply and 44 per cent enroll- ing during the fall following gradu- ation.

At present, 60.4 per cent of the men of the class of 1966, 22 per cent of the women and a class average of 41.2 per cent have expressed interest in ad- vanced work. Authorities as- sume that military service is partially responsible for the drop in men's applications.

41 Major Awards In spite of the drops in percentage, the Lawrence class of 1966 is winning approximately the same number of fellowships and assistantships for graduate work. The class of 1964 won 30 major awards, the class of 1965 won more than 45, and the present count for 1966 is 41.

Of this year's group, 17 won awards in national competitions, the others were granted by indi- vidual universities.

Four Woodrow Wilson fellow- ships, pointing toward careers in college teaching, have been won by Ann Cogan, Belmont, Robert C. Criscione, 17, 513½ N. Mass., who will study Russian literature at the University of Chicago; David Glidden, Bata- via, Ill., philosophy at Prince-Loudspeakers relayed the sermon to a cheering crowd of 100,000 in the streets.

Fresh from the flower-throw- ing ovation for the Polish Catho- lic primate, a crowd of home- bound worshippers stopped and attacked a signboard in a square opposite the main rail- road station. They ripped its two wooden signs from the steel frame and burned them, then toppled the 15-foot scaffolding into the flames.

The Lesson From Indonesia

There is a sign, if only a negative one, of America's growing maturity in foreign affairs in what apparently has been our almost complete hands off attitude toward the turbulent events that have shaken Indonesia in the last seven months. While cynicism is not exactly a characteristic of maturity, neither has been our idealism, especially in Asia.

Last October there was an attempted Communist coup in Indonesia or at least the now ruling military officials say so. In all likelihood they are right as the Indonesian Communist party was second only to that in China as to size, and its influence in government affairs was immense. There is some question as to why the coup was attempted when it appeared that the Communists were going to seep into power through the friendship of Sukarno. Sukarno's illness and the anti-Communism of many army leaders may have prompted the Reds to try to take over at once.

But the effort failed and the Communist party of Indonesia is no longer the second largest in Asia. Reportedly hundreds of thousands of members—and inevitably of suspected members—have been slaughtered, family by family, town by town and sometimes it must be suspected merely because they were in an unpopular minority group whatever their political leanings.

The attitude in official quarters in the United States seems to be to say as little as possible about the whole affair. Secretary McNamara did reply to questions by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he thought foreign aid sent to Indonesia in past years had been valuable although he did not go into detail. At least this is one area where so far there have been no charges of CIA complicity. As far as America is concerned, apparently, this is a purely domestic matter for the Indonesians to handle. The majority of those killed probably were Communists anyway and would have done the same had they been in power. The United States certainly must not meddle in the internal affairs of a sovereign nation.

But our official silence on the extensive purge is really because the new government with the downgraded role for Sukarno is likely to be friendly to the United States and, of greater importance, has cut all ties to Red China. The liberal abhorrence of military regimes with arbitrary power has somehow disappeared or been very quiet.

The new government of Indonesia, entirely aside from its relentless attitude toward suspected Communists, appears to have some sound ideas. It probably will come back into the United Nations. New efforts are to be made through the Philippines and Thailand to settle the conflict with Malaysia. But the economic plight of the country is serious. It appears that in future months, rigid military control will be important in preventing unlimited criticism and this undoubtedly is why the purge of the Communists was so severe. Since there will be reasons for discontent, due primarily to Sukarno's ridiculous economic policies in the past, the new leaders are doing their best to be sure that those who might exploit the unrest simply do not exist.

We have taken a hardheaded — and perhaps even a hardhearted — attitude toward Indonesia. Somewhere along the line, our policy has deviated from the idealistic insistence that we could bring peace, justice and all the goods of this world to everyone. We do not need to approve of the slaughter in Indonesia to realize that in the long run our influence for those benefits may come more easily if we stay away.

What Next in Viet Nam?

Although reports from Viet Nam have a way of being reversed in the space of only a few days, it appears at this moment that Premier Ky has successfully put down the revolt which broke into open warfare in the northern areas of Da Nang and Hue.

Ky's success could serve to build his strength with the Vietnamese people. In a country as splintered as is South Viet Nam and with as little history of unity and freedom and no peace at all for more than 20 years, a strong man could succeed in winning support enough to proceed with the war against the Viet Cong. Reportedly American advisers, including our ambassador, Henry Cabot Lodge, wanted Ky to take a firmer stand against the Buddhists and other dissident elements when the grumbling began some weeks ago.

But certainly the revolt and Ky's military moves to put it down have done nothing to enhance the popularity of American troops in South Viet Nam.

Students in Hue burned a United States Information Service building in the most strident example of anti-American sentiment. In Da Nang and Saigon, American vehicles were overturned and burned and the usual "Yankee Go Home Signs" were scrawled on walls. It is impossible to determine whether the anti-Americanism is primarily Communist inspired. But the trouble is that the wise American efforts to stay out of the conflict between Premier Ky, the Buddhists and rebellious military units has meant that now none of the groups is enthusiastic about the United States.

Premier Ky, after having had the heady meeting in Honolulu with President Johnson which seemed to put American support behind his regime, found that he had to fight the rebellion by himself. The Buddhists were apparently hoping that the demonstrations against Ky would mean an American official backing for the civilian government they claim to back. And the dissident army units, which only a few weeks ago were virtually protected from Ky's marines by United States forces which stopped units from entering Da Nang, this time found the American military were withdrawn from the area so the Vietnamese could fight it out among themselves.

President Johnson appealed to the Vietnamese to settle their differences so they could get on with the war against the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese. But there are beginning to be signs that some Vietnamese consider their differences more important than that war — especially as long as the Americans are there to keep the Viet Cong out of the way. The American casualties last week were the highest of any week during the war. It is obvious that anti-Americanism and reliance upon the United States, even for the opportunity to demonstrate the anti-Americanism, exist side by side.

One of the many troubles with this particular war is that, while the United States insists it is fighting for the sovereignty of South Viet Nam, what we really need in Saigon is a puppet to do our bidding. What if a strong Premier Ky decides to drive into North Viet Nam in case the Viet Cong in the south are actually defeated?

Crescent for June 9, 1866.

The Western Division of the Fenian army passed through Indianapolis on the 28th inst. en route for Buffalo, on a special train over the Bellefontaine Road.

The majority of them came from Nashville, Tenn., and the party was joined by about 100 men from Indianapolis. There were 700 altogether.

They go to take part in President Roberts' grand June demonstration on Canada. Arms and hard tack accompany them.

Several hundred men, said to be Fenians, arrived at Buffalo early on the evening of May 30th, and went into secret council with brother Fenians there. There is little, if any, apprehension of a raid in that quarter.

The Roberts' wing of the Fenians' Brotherhood, under the direction of Gen. Sweeny, has inaugurated a campaign by a raid upon Canadian soil, which promises to assume the proportions, dimension and character of an invasion.

On the night of May 31st, a force of Fenians, estimated variously between 1,000 to 1,500, crossed into Canada and occupied the village of Fort Erie, opposite Buffalo. They met with no opposition.

In Perspective:

Russia Courts Nasser as Means Of Bettering Middle East Position

BY MAX FREEDMAN

LOYDON — The visit of Mr. Kosygin to Cairo has been compared in London with the patient attentions paid to President Nasser by Mr. Khrushchev. Once again, after a quiet interlude, Russia is resuming her active diplomacy in the Middle East.

Freedman

Two separate influences are responsible for Russia's new interest in President Nasser.

In the first place, Russia wishes to renew and strengthen her contacts with President Nasser to avoid an undue reliance on Syria as the pillar of Soviet policy in the Middle East. The feuds and jealousies which mar relations between several Arab states make it a risky venture for Russia to appear before the Arab world as the friend and ally of only one group. It is better to play the field.

Nasser the Leader

Strengthening the alliance with President Nasser, still the most formidable and important Arab leader, is therefore from Russia's point of view a valuable form of double insurance, and, from Nasser's viewpoint, gives him a much stronger bargaining position in dealing with Western nations. There is therefore ample scope for a useful partnership going far beyond the economic aid, which has already exceeded $1 billion for Egypt.

Secondly, the Russian visit is related to the announced British decision to give up the base at Aden. When this decision first was announced, it was said that one of the prices that would have to be paid for a reduction in British military power in the area would be an increase in Russian diplomatic probes to find out if there are any weaknesses which could be exploited for the advantage of the Soviet Union.

Despite this clear risk, the British government found that it had no alternative to the shutting down of the Aden base. The cost of maintaining it imposed too severe a strain on Britain's economic reand Mrs. R. A. Diestler, Winneconne.

Carl Hagen of the Marathon Credit Union, was elected president of the Winnebago County Chapter of Credit Unions. Other new officers were Howard Larson of Bergstrom Paper Co., vice president; Dorothy Kolgen, Neenah Paper Co., secretary, and William Zinke of George Banta Co., treasurer.

Sidney Miller Jr. and Charles Scribner, members of Appleton Boy Scout Troop 2, were presented Eagle Scout awards at a Court of Honor at First Methodist Church. The Eagle rank is the highest award in Scouting.

sources and its military importance was highly doubtful in the age of missiles and air power. But the prophetic fears of Russia's increased interest are now coming true and must be met by other diplomatic and political arrangements in which the United States is expected to take an active part.

Protect Kuwait Oil

It should be explained that the decision on Aden reflects the advice given over a long period by the British foreign office. It has long been argued by the experts in the foreign office that it is not necessary to hold Aden in order to protect oil-rich Kuwait. They have presented a powerful, indeed an unanswerable, case to prove that the oil resources of the Persian Gulf can be protected from within the area, together with swift air support, instead of relying on a fixed and vulnerable base like Aden.

This history is worth recalling because it shows that the British decision to quit Aden was taken on the highest political grounds as well as for sound military reasons.

That is why the British government is taking a relaxed view of Russia's activities in the Middle East, is saying that Russia has every right to cultivate the closest relations with Arab states, and is discouraging all efforts to picture the new situation as a revision to the days when Russia was actively working against the interests of Britain and America in this region.

Watch for Arms Race

The word has gone out that the Middle East is big enough to accommodate Russia as well as the Western powers in friendly rivalry—provided that Russia does not start an arms race among the rival states. Such an arms race would destroy all the assumptions on which British policy now rests and drive Britain and the United States to reassess their policies. It is easy for Russia to plunge into such a policy, despite its manifest risks, because the Soviet Union is the implacable and untiring foe of Israel and therefore is free to base her calculations solely on the Arab cause.

In the British foreign office the main anxiety is that Yemay become the scene of intense fighting. President Nasser has gone back on his pledge to end the Yemen war. He will not withdraw his troops from Yemen until the Aden base has been closed by 1968.

This does not mean that President Nasser intends to take over Aden after 1968. He is merely putting himself in a position to do what he can with a minimum of risk to himself and to Egypt if the removal of British power should allow him to make fresh Egyptian gains.

Opposes Islamic Alliance

He is now engaged in a diplomatic struggle with Saudi Arabia, where King Faisal has proposed an Islamic alliance as opposed to the program of Arab socialism advocated by Egypt. He may be able to use his troops in Yemen, bogged down in a futile and interminable struggle, in the more fluid situation that will open in the next few months. President Nasser can be trusted to make full use of these opportunities, for he has lost none of his talents for supple and resourceful diplomacy.

In the judgment of the foreign office, the United States has never yet obtained an adequate return from President Nasser for the massive food shipments which alone have saved Egypt from famine. It is not a sufficient return to say that Egypt has not attacked Israel, for British officials are convinced that President Nasser had no intention of ordering an attack on Israel.

It is the hope of the British government that the United States will not try to compete with Russia for President Nasser's favor but will instead cultivate a mood of relaxed patience as the new diplomatic plot in the Middle East slowly unfolds.

'Home Rule' Biggest Obstacle in Passing Beer Drinking Law

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It is probably fair to say that never have so many Wisconsin legislators said so much and done so little about an acknowledged public problem as during the 1965 session of the Wisconsin Legislature of marking the laws on beer and youth consistent.

Wyngaard

It became perfectly clear months ago that there is no disposition to rewrite the laws to provide for a uniform beer age control. Most observers admit that the problem confronting the Legislature in that regard is more difficult than it appears at first glance.

That there is some awareness of the problem, however, and a desire to do something about it, was shown effectively in an Assembly roll call to reform the state's curious policies on the issuance of the identification cards required by under-age youth to buy beer in those public places where it is legal to sell it to persons under the age of 21 years. The margin of approval in sending the measure to the Senate was a surprising four to one. That may show that the legislators are increasingly sensitive to the issue and public opinion that it has generated and that they are willing enough to do something about it if they are persuaded it can be done in a practical manner.

CURIOUS OBJECTIONS

The assemblymen decided that the so-called "ID" cards would not be issued by the state to applicants who are residents of communities in which the local governing bodies prohibit the sale of beer to minors. Thus would be encouraged the notorious habit of some young people in some of the 21 year old rule jurisdictions of driving their cars in the night-time hours to distant places of more lenient policies.

The Legislature apparently reached the logical conclusion that if the local authorities have legislated a rule, for the protection of public safety and morality, the state should not encourage its circumvention by issuing permits to young and drink the intoxicants that are prohibited in their own district.

But there was a curious resistance to the idea — from local public officials, of all people. Assemblymen were told that Milwaukee County officials were opposed to the restriction. The only perceptible reason was the prospective loss of some income to the county through the sale of beer cards the state is proposing to handle in the future.

THE BIG OBSTACLE

While the restriction on the beer drinking migrants will be welcomed by many critics as a contribution to the goal of uniformity in beer regulations, their hope for a statewide policy on the question evidently is unattainable. The impossible obstacle is the matter of local option in the regulation of taverns, which nobody, evidently, in political office cares to challenge or believes he could challenge successfully if he decided to do so.

Local option is a kind of "do it yourself" idea applied to beer regulation. Localities can enact a 21 year old ordinance if they choose. If they follow the state's lead, they can reduce the age limit for beer bars to 18 years. To impose a statewide rule of 21 years would bring heavy resistance from the local government lobby which would regard such action as a dangerous invasion of the "home rule" principle. To establish a uniform rule of 18 or 19, or 20, as variously suggested, would open up a new market for the beer trades where it is now denied by local ordinance and stir up a fever of resistance from the opponents of intoxicants.

Anyone who has watched the stalemate over the years begins to wonder about the validity of "home rule" when applied to issues of public morality and safety, which are clearly involved in the beer age argument. Why not local choice on the legal age for marriage, or driving permits, or hunting licenses, or a dozen other questions involving personal liberties and public protection? The question will be asked increasingly as the Legislature equivocates.

Strictly Personal

Philosophy Can't be Shaped From a Word

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Perhaps the most dangerous thing that anyone can do is to take one word and try to construct a philosophy out of it. Life is too large, and too various, to fit into even the most exalted word.

Throughout the ages, the words "Reason" and "Faith" have been the rallying cries of different factions. I am convinced, from my reading of history, that neither of these words alone is sufficient as a philosophy of life.

Harris

The French Revolution was based on "Reason" — but reason soon ran wild, and the reasonable men of France suddenly found themselves committed to unspeakable tyranny, as vile as the despotism they had rebelled against.

Today we hear a great deal about "Faith." But faith alone is not a way of life, any more than reason is. Faith in Hitler encouraged Nazism; faith in the plausible nonsense of the Marxist bible brought about the cruel totalitarianism of the Russian and Chinese Communist states.

Man is a creature of both reason and faith; these are, so to speak, like a pair of scissors that must work together to accomplish any constructive purpose. Take one blade away and the other is merely beating the air, aimlessly and often harmfully.

As Einstein himself put it, shortly before he died: "Science without religion is lame, religion without science is blind." Without a deep faith, reason soon wilts into self-serving expediency or stiffens into arrogant imperialism; without a cool reason, faith can quickly become inflamed into ignorant bigotry or harden into a smug defense of the status quo.

Mere "faith in God" is not enough to prevent war or ensure social justice; it never has been, for each nation hypnotizes itself into the delusion that God is on its side. Without a scientific understanding of social, technical, and economic forces, faith can do little to bring the brotherhood of man into concrete existence.

Likewise, a merely "reasonable" approach to society does not contain the moral fervor and spiritual strength to resist corruption and compromise with the truth. Man's unaided intellect is not strong enough to cope with the problem of evil, of vanity, of self-seeking; only faith can provide this added support.

Reason must be pushed as far as it can go; only then may faith take over. The former may not be pushed too far, nor may the latter be used too soon. We have been given both reason and faith to move together with, just as we have been given two legs. The devout person who lets his leg of reason atrophy is as insolent toward this gift of God as the atheist who amputates the limb of faith. (Copyright, 1966) cal elements have taken advantage of a year of turmoil here to dig deep into key government institutions.

Moreover, traffic between Santo Domingo, Eastern Europe, and Communist China has now reached an unprecedented level — small in terms of the entire population but dangerously large in terms of troublemaking potential in the highly sensitive political period that will follow the election.

No fewer than five Dominican Communists returned here within the last few weeks from indoctrination courses in paramilitary operations in China. All carried forged passports. Since the bloody violence here a year ago, between Communist-infiltrated forces loyal to Bosch and right wing military forces, an estimated 20 Dominican Communists have made the trip to Red China via Prague and Karachi. And although Provisional President Hector Garcia Godoy issued specific orders to prevent the return of any Dominican who attended last winter's tri-continental conference in Havana, three of the five official delegates are in fact back in the country.

Finally, during the long months when the anti-army rebel forces were penned up in the old city here by the inter-American peace-keeping force (mainly U.S. troops), they were broken strikes led by FENEPIA taught the subtle arts of terror by refusing to join them and sabotage in regular training Bosch himself is deeply concerned over the far left.

The institutional targets of the far left are most interesting. In addition to the Sugar Corporation, which runs the country's largest enterprise, these targets include the judiciary, the public works administration, the university, and the labor unions. For example, the provisional president appointed Alfredo Conde Pausas as chief justice of the supreme court. Conde named his brother as a land judge in Santiago, the second largest city, even though the brother is a member of the central committee of the Dominican Communist Party, which has ties to Moscow. He also named a member of the central committee of the rival Peking-style Communist party, the MPD, as an appellate judge in Santo Domingo.

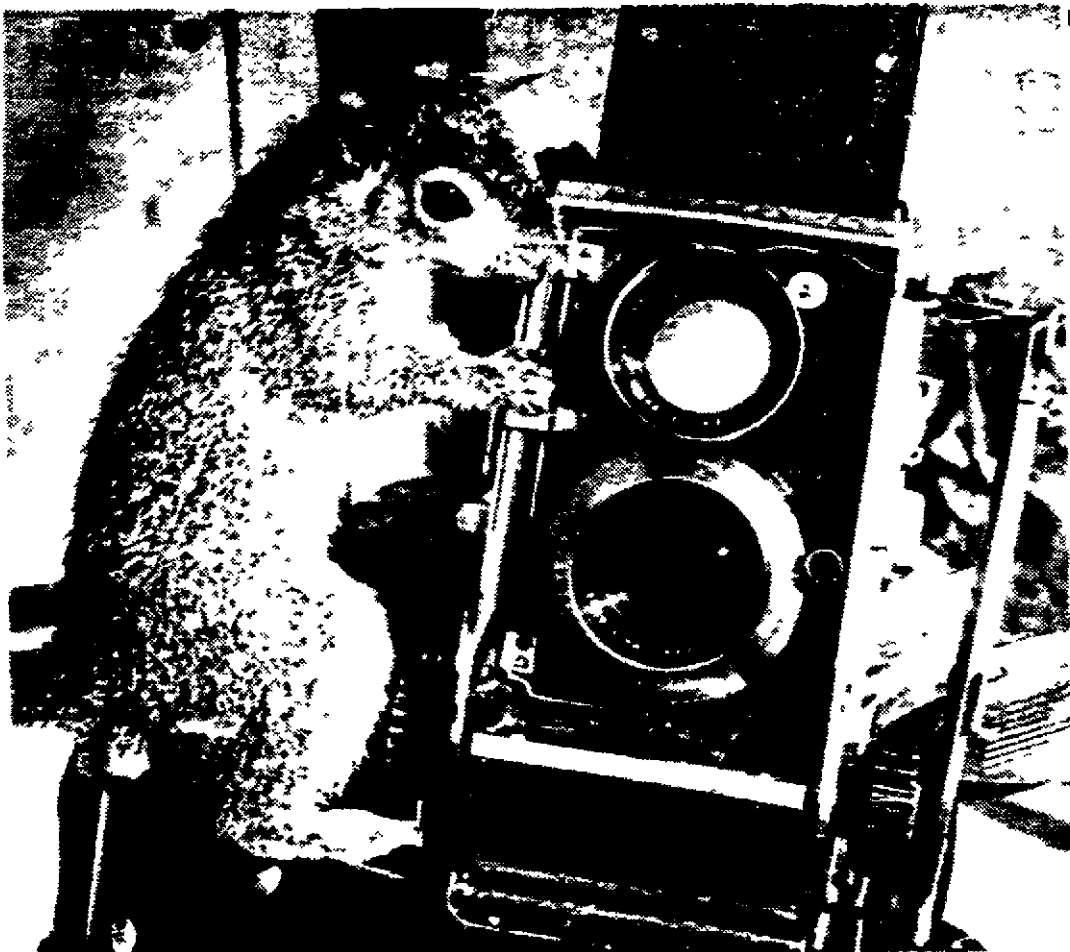

University Seized
The university, which had been little more than a diploma mill, was physically taken over by the left last fall when a provisional council occupied it in a sit-in. The old administration lacked even a pretense of academic professionalism. It was squeezed out, along with 96 professors.

The guiding hand behind this take-over, which the government formally blessed this spring, is Hugo Tolentino Dipp, an economics professor who is a member of the Dominican Communist Party.

The chief of the Public Works Department is a non-Communist but he has allowed strategic positions to be taken over by members of the far left, including the key Transportation Section, which controls all public transportation in the cities. As for the labor unions, the far left has penetrated deeply. Perhaps most worrisome is the complete Communist domination of the Federation of Government Employee Organizations called FENEPIA. Bosch and his moderately left wing party, the PRD, have twice broken strikes led by FENEPIA by refusing to join them and Bosch himself is deeply concerned over the far left.

None of this means that the Dominican Republic is "going Communist." It is, however, powerful evidence of the reaction to the rottenness that has corrupted the country under Trujillo for the last 30 years and the army. Whether Bosch or his right wing rival, Joaquin Balaguer, wins Wednesday's election, the new president must deal quickly with these two implacable enemies — the far left and the army. If either one gains the upper hand, a second blood bath will be inevitable.

Congressmen Prescribe Cures for Inflation

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — According to recent reports from the national opinion polls, inflation has one thing in common with the weather: everyone is objecting to it. But unlike the weather, about which no one is doing anything, a number of persons have prescribed medication to help the ailing economy, including two legislators from Wisconsin.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, (R-18th Green Bay), the top Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee, charged with finding ways to finance the operation of the government, believes restraint in federal spending could curb the present economic "boom."

Moderate Boom

Stressing that bad as the high cost of living is, the real threat is the prospect of an "eventual recession" if the government continues "its policy of full-steam ahead, in the time of a war boom."

"If, on the other hand, federal spending is held in check, the boom can be moderated, the subsequent adjustment made manageable, and recovery can move from a higher level more quickly," Byrnes said.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, (7th), of Marshfield, who watches government spending first-hand from his vantage point on the House Appropriations Committee, decries the fact that federal grants-in-aid have grown from $4 billion to $14 billion in the last 10 years.

Return Portion of Tax

His prescription for cutting down on what he calls the waste and inefficiency accompanying many local programs when federally administered is to put that administration in the hands of the local authorities.

For instance, Laird believes that instead of the present federal aid-to-education program, the states could improve their educational systems and at the same time save the taxpayers' money if the federal government returned to the individual states 5 per cent of the federal income taxes collected within the state. This sum could be earmarked for educational purposes.

Laird, who has introduced several bills to do just this, says a similar bill which he has introduced for a number of years would also return to the states a flat percentage of their income taxes to be used in programs, which, he contends, "are so costly."

"Such welfare and health programs, federally financed through the return of a portion of the state's total federal income taxes but locally administered would be used in lieu of the present programs which are so inefficient, and in many cases magnify rather than relieve problems our local communities face," the congressman declared during an interview.

Fiery Deaths Of Buddhists Okayed at Top

Vietnamese Leaders
Hope Immolations
Will Help Oust Ky

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The extremist Buddhist leaders in Viet Nam stay away from the gasoline can themselves. It's the minor, unheard-of Buddhists who are committing suicide by setting themselves afire.

There can be no doubt that the reported suicides in the past few days were committed with the approval of the leadership.

Unknown is this part of what happened did these people volunteer to kill themselves or were they asked to?

These deaths, intended to force the overthrow of the military government led by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, are aimed at world opinion but particularly at American opinion. The United States has supported Ky's regime.

But such self-immolation by the Buddhists is based on a plea for pity — to see things the Buddhists' way and give them what they want — and not on an appeal to reason or what is right.

Horrid Johnson

The hope is that the suicides will so horrify President Johnson and the American government — or so shame them before the world — that the United States will abandon Ky.

But it's a plea for pity mixed with blackmail — aggressive masochism — for Tam Chau, today chairman of the Buddhist Institute, warned of more suicides unless Ky steps down and lets a civilian government take over. Chau said "we will continue the struggle in the spirit of non-violence of Buddhism." Asked if he considered suicide non-violence, he said "I see no contradiction, no contradiction history. It is extremism at its worst. Yet these same Buddhist leaders want a hand in running the government."

This struggle between the Buddhists and Ky's government is political and not at all religious for Ky, a Buddhist himself, who make up 80 per cent of the self, is not repressing or persecuting population, but only one faction.

Paper Industry Growing, FAO Says

ROME (AP) — The world pulp paper and paperboard industry is bigger than ever and growing with unforeseen speed, the U.S. Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) said Sunday.

An annual FAO survey showed the world's total capacity grew from 83 million tons in 1960 to more than 114 million tons this year, corresponding to annual increases of five to six per cent.

The capacity to produce newsprint was expected to grow to 22.3 million tons by 1968, compared with 20.3 million tons in 1966.

The survey said means to manufacture paper and paperboard were expected to increase everywhere between 1966 and 1968, but noted that expansion was expected to be especially swift in the Near and Middle East (29.2 per cent), the Soviet Union (13.6 per cent) and Africa (9.6 per cent).

cutting any religious group for religious reasons.

But Chau said, "We Buddhists are not involved in a political struggle. We are defending our religion."

And Tri Quang, perhaps the most militant Buddhist leader, said there might be more suicides unless Johnson dropped his support of Ky. He talked after one of the burnings and the New York Times reported, "smiling impishly." He had written to Johnson for assistance.

But the administration brushed him off — this was two weeks ago — with a statement by Secretary of State Rusk who said this government wanted all factions to lay aside their differences and pull together nationally.

More Suicides

After two suicides Saturday, a monk warned there would be more on Sunday and still more today.

In view of all this there can be no doubt that these suicides are not spontaneous acts by emotional individuals but are prearranged, with the blessing of the leaders who let the minor peevishness of Buddhism.

Asked if he die to further their cause, he said "I see no contradiction, no contradiction history. It is extremism at its worst. Yet these same Buddhist leaders want a hand in running the government."

Reports from Viet Nam say these leaders do not represent the vast majority of Buddhists, who make up 80 per cent of the population, but only one faction.

more time changing the shelf prices of goods than stocking the shelves themselves.

The average housewife finds herself buying a lower quality item to keep her budget balanced, said the Detroit. "I watch pennies closer than ever before."

The AP budget brigade turned up a wide spread in prices for individual items from store to store in the same city. But by the time they had priced all the items on the list, the total tended to be about the same.

In Baltimore, for example, one store had an 89-cent special on sirloin steak while an econo store charged $1.19. Nevertheless the checker's total bill was $20.57 in the first store, $20.59 in the other.

Reports by both sets of checkers indicated that pork prices, which had been in orbit for months, were beginning to level out or decline, although still far higher, than a year ago.

Government checkers reported an average price of $1.117 for pork chops in Baltimore compared with $1.087 and 90.6 cents, $1.132 in Cleveland compared with $1.157 and 90.8 cents, and $107.6 in Detroit compared with $1.121 and 85.1 cents.

AP's budget brigade found their three-store average price for pork chops to be $1.177 in Baltimore, $1.117 in Boston, $1.113 in Cleveland and 99 cents in Detroit.

The tendency for food prices in general to level out was reflected in April statistics announced by the government a week ago showing that over-all food costs rose only .1 of 1 per cent over the March averages.

The AP budget brigade in general agreed that there are several ways to resist advancing prices. These include buying only the items on a prepared list, placing a limit on the total to be spent, eliminating luxuries and buying less expensive grades.

The AP's Detroit checker said advances in the processing of foods often beguile the shopper into spending more than she intended.

Elegant Array
"Before, it was canned peas, now it's frozen peas with miniature onions or in mushroom sauce," she said. "Corn once came packed in water. Now it is frozen in pure butter."

The Cleveland member of the team remarked that "so complete and elegant an array of prepared foods now is on the market that I begin to suspect the cook may be done away with."

The budget brigade said shopping in several stores saves money, but may prolong the chore of buying the groceries beyond that which a busy housewife can spare.

The Philadelphia checker said: "I find it necessary to devote considerably more time to shopping all three stores to take advantage of their loss leaders and determine which stores have the better values."

The brigade's San Francisco housewife said she was surprised to find that "a market well known for its 'low prices' charged more for meat than another market considered high-priced for meat. This latter market was considerably lower in prices and its meat was superior."

Lutheran Church Names 3 Men To First Posts

Three Fox River Valley graduates of the Wisconsin Lutheran Seminary, Mequon, have been assigned to their first calls by the Committee on the Assignment of Calls.

Daniel R. Falck, Neenah, will serve as minister at Calvary Church, Eaton Rapids, Mich.; Paul F. Seitz, Greenleaf, will serve multiple parishes in Globe, Safford and Morenci, Ariz.; Thomas C. Spiegelberg, Menasha, accepted the call to St. Paul Church, Hurley and Zion Church, Mercer.

The board also has assigned James R. Diener, Hartford, to a mission in Little Chute.

from the AP's surveyors showed that a housewife with unlimited time for shopping could have saved a substantial sum by ferreting out the lowest price for a given item at each of the three stores visited.

Thus the shopper in the Washington area ran up a bill averaging $29 for the 40 items priced. By switching from store to store she could have had them for $18.67.

The shopping list of the AP budget brigade included staple meats, fish and poultry, fruits, vegetables, canned goods, coffee, tea, sugar, eggs, butter, margarine, cheese, cereal and cold cuts.

The total bill by cities (government figure first) follows:

Baltimore, $20.80 and $20.63; Boston, $32.10 and $21.06; Chicago $20.52 and $19.68; Cleveland, $19.67 and $18.77; Detroit, $19.62 and $19.53; Los Angeles, $20.36 and $19.02; New York, $20.68 and $20.10; Philadelphia, $20.42 and $19.69; Pittsburgh, $20.48 and $21.03; St. Louis, $20.43 and $20.43 (same); San Francisco, $21.27 and $19.70; Washington, $20.98 and $20.
